

Owners May Recover For Actual Value

BY THE WISCONSIN BAR broke and was not repaired pending upon the particular of property is usually sufficient to qualify the owner to give his estimate of what his actual loss has been. It is up to the judge to evaluate the testimony and to adjudge the credit to be attached to the owner as a witness.

What about monetary recovery until 10 days afterward, during conditions and circumstances, the judge may admit evidence of the cost of an article when new, the length of time it has been in use, its condition at the time of loss or damage, the expense to the owner of replacement it with another item of like kind and in similar condition and any other facts which may assist in determining the worth of that article to its owner at the time of the loss or damage. The general rule that the fair value of personal property may only be testified to by an "expert" does not apply to damages or injury to wearing apparel in use and household goods and effects owned or kept for personal use. In such instances, the mere fact of ownership of these particular kinds of property is usually sufficient to qualify the owner to give his estimate of what his actual loss has been. It is up to the judge to evaluate the testimony and to adjudge the credit to be attached to the owner as a witness.

In many cases involving damage that the break in the pipe, been in use, its condition at the time of loss or damage, the expense to the owner of replacement it with another item of like kind and in similar condition and any other facts which may assist in determining the worth of that article to its owner at the time of the loss or damage. It is up to the judge to evaluate the testimony and to adjudge the credit to be attached to the owner as a witness.

In one recent case, the plaintiff brought an action for damages to certain household goods and amount of the damages. A trial judge has a wide latitude in determining the recoverable actual value of used for personal use. In such instances, the mere fact of ownership of these particular kinds of property is usually sufficient to qualify the owner to give his estimate of what his actual loss has been. It is up to the judge to evaluate the testimony and to adjudge the credit to be attached to the owner as a witness.

Good Family Doctor Can Save You Money

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Although medical care services are climbing faster than any other major category in your cost of living and there's absolutely no hope for more than a slowing of the pace of rise over the years ahead, you can slash your medical costs with comparative ease. What's more, you can cut your costs not only while maintaining the quality of the medical care you get but also while actually improving it.

Here are your 12 basic money-saving guides in this area:

(1) Choose with care a family doctor, preferably one on the medical staff of a good hospital. He will save you money just by keeping a permanent record of your medical history and thereby helping you to avoid duplication of costly diagnostic tests, treatments and immunizations when something goes wrong.

(2) Have a thorough physical for minor complaints; this exam at least once a year, no matter what your age, and by medical sense.

(3) Discuss fees when you first visit a doctor, especially a high-cost specialist. If you consider a bill too high, go back and negotiate with the doctor. Chances are he'll reduce the charge and stretch out the payment to fit your budget.

(4) Save physician house calls. These are always much more expensive and often must be followed by office or hospital visits anyway — leaving you with two or more fees instead of one bill. And use the telephone for minor complaints; this saves money and makes good use of your time.

(5) Choose a family dentist or dental specialist with the same care. Don't deal with a dentist who refuses to discuss his fees or who doesn't discuss his fees frankly in advance of treatment or care he proposes.

(6) Make sure your health insurance — medical, dental and hospital — is adequate for your needs. Concentrate your health insurance dollars on major catastrophic illness. Examine your present health insurance policies, group and individual, to see whether you're overloaded with "first dollar" coverage which may have limits of only $5,000-$10,000. Consider trading a higher deductible ($100, $250, $500) for higher overall limits without appreciably changing the basic premium costs.

(7) Make sure you don't have overlapping medical insurance coverage through a group and an individual policy.

(8) Use the free or low-cost health services offered in your community: chest X-rays, glaucoma testing, immunizations, family planning services, treatment for mental illness, alcoholism, drug problems.

(9) Take all your allowable tax deductions: doctor bills, hospital bills and drug costs beyond a specified percentage of your income may be claimed as deductions for federal income tax purposes.

(10) Ask your physician to prescribe drugs you need by their generic names at possibly huge savings and ask your pharmacist to fill your prescriptions at lowest cost if your medications are prescribed by generic name.

(11) Ask your physician to steer you to drug stores in your area which offer quality drugs at the lowest cost. The American Medical Association recently surveyed a sampling of drugstores in a Midwest city, found prices varying as much as 1200 per cent from store to store and often different prices charged for the same prescription in the same store.

(12) Check the discount stores and the co-op pharmacies where you can save as much as 25 per cent on health and beauty aids.

VALENTINE'S DAY IS FEB. 14

BY ERMA BOMBECK
I know women's lib groups say that basically there is no difference between the emotional make-up of men and women, but they are wrong. I read Erich Segal's "Love Story" while sitting in a parking lot waiting for my daughter to have her teeth cleaned. (It's the story of two young people who marry and are separated by death in the next to the last chapter.) Small children on the way home from school sold tickets to my performance. Tears streamed down my face, my eyes became red and swollen, sounds of anguish came from my throat and I had difficulty swallowing. I rushed home and said to my husband, "You must read this book." He sat down after dinner and I watched him carefully as he read. Finally, he put the book down, looked up and said, "Did the boys turn off the garage light like I told them to?"

"You really are an insensitive person," I said. "Why, because I am sick of lighting this place up like an airstrip?" "I'm not talking about the garage light, I'm talking about the book." "It's a woman's book," he yawned. "What do you mean by a crack like that?" "I mean you cried when Roy Rogers' horse went lame in 'Sons of the Prairie.'" "Men cry too," I charged. "You once sobbed all the way home from a basketball game." "I never cried at a hamster's funeral," he retorted. "You cried when a kid at the beach asked to borrow your innertube and you weren't wearing one."

"You fell apart when the kids gave you a bookmark made out of a paper plate for Mother's Day." "You cried when a bird followed you home from the car wash." "You even cried when Laura told you she was expecting." "At 43, you hardly laugh!" "Women wear their emotions on their sleeves," he said. "They're not capable of separating the real from the unreal. You've seen Bette Davis die on the Late Show 35 times and you're still a basket case." I didn't say anything for a moment. Then, "The boys broke the wall switch in the garage. If you want the garage light off you'll have to get the extension ladder out of the attic and unscrew the bulb. Oh, for heaven's sake, will you stop that sniveling."

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

World Champions
by IRA G. CORN JR.
TEAM CAPTAIN

Today is quiz day. The following problems were taken from real-life situations encountered in competitive bridge matches. Match your actions with those of the players to find out if you can do as well as they did.

Question No. 1
You are West and hold:

♠ K 9 6 1/14
♥ K J 2
♣ A K 9 6 3

None vulnerable. South, Mrs. D. B. Hawes of Fort Worth, opens the bidding in front of you with four diamonds. What action do you take?

Question No. 2
You are South defending a five-spade contract.

1/14
North East South West
5♦ Pass 5♠ Pass 5♣ Pass 5♠

1/14 EAST (Dummy)
♠ 8 7 6
♥ K Q J 4
♣ K 6 5 4 3

SOUTH (You)
♥ 9 8 7 6 2
♦ J 10 5
♣ A 10 9 2

North leads the diamond ace and shifts to the club queen. Dummy plays a low club. What do you play?

Answer No. 1. Double is the winner. Pass is a poor second choice, but partner may save the day. If you bid five clubs, it costs you 11 international match points. Ace Bob Hamman doubled with the West hand and reached the proper contract when his partner, Billy Eisenberg, bid four hearts. Hamman and Eisenberg earned a tie on the hand. However, at the other table, the irritating and venturesome preemptive bid of four diamonds was not made and the four-heart game was easy to reach. The entire hand:

NORTH 1/14
♠ J 4 3 2
♥ A 6 5 3
♣ 7 4 2

WEST EAST
♠ K 8 6 ♠ A Q 7 5
♥ K J 2 ♥ Q 9 8 7 4
♦ 5 ♦ Q 7 6
♣ A K 9 6 3 ♣ 5

SOUTH
♠ 10 8
♥ 10
♦ A K J 10 9 4 3
♣ Q J 8

Answer No. 2. If you signalled vigorously with the club 10, you lose the hand. Partner's queen was a singleton and a ruff was needed to beat the hand.

The hand was played in the recent playoff matches to select the second North American 1971 international team (The Aces will defend their 1970 title). In actual play, declarer covered the club queen with his king. South won easily and gave partner his ruff. However, South was not really tested, as you were, by a duck of the club queen. Don't feel badly if you missed the play. Few would find it. And what if partner had Q-J of clubs doubtless? The entire hand:

NORTH 1/14
♠ Q 2
♦ A K Q 8 6 4 3 2
♣ Q

WEST EAST
♠ A K J 10 9 5 3 ♠ 8 7 6
♥ A 10 ♥ K Q J 4
♦ 9 ♦ 7
♣ J 8 7 ♣ K 6 5 4 3

♥ 9 8 7 6 2
♦ J 10 5
♣ A 10 9 2

Solo Parents Calendar To Begin With Recreation

An afternoon of family recreation will kick off the Fox Valley Solo Parents Club's calendar of events for the remainder of January and the first week of February.

Set from 2 to 4 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Neenah-Menasha Community YWCA, the swim and gym program will precede a potluck supper at 5 p.m. Members are to bring their own table settings and food for their own families. The club will supply milk and ice cream for the children. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Sylvia Van Asten.

A discussion workshop to convene at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Leola Vogt, 733½ W. Fourth St., is planned for Jan. 18.

Jan. 18 also marks the deadline for reservations for the club's annual progressive dinner to be Jan. 23. The first course will be served at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Virginia Hewitt, 1622 S. Kernan St., the second course, at the Ouragame Bank, and the final course at the home of Mrs. Mary Triber, 717 Fifth St., Menasha. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Delores Seely or Mrs. Verna Baehman.

At 8 p.m. Feb. 2, plans for the May 8 Solo Parents Convention will be made at a general business meeting at the Neenah-Menasha YWCA.

Mrs. Iris Young, 905 Gay Drive, Neenah, will be hostess to a Valentine party Feb. 6. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Sylvia Van Asten by Feb. 1.

Solo Parents is open to adults divorced, legally separated or widowed with one or more children under 21. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Van Asten.

Today's Seating Based on Geometric Lines

Thursday, January 14, 1971 The Post-Crescent A 16

BY CAROL HANSON
Post-Crescent Home Furnishing Editor

There's a whole new group of contemporary chair designs coming off the drawing boards of European designers — many of which are making their way to the United States either through import or imitation. Based primarily on geometry, the designs include right angles, giant S's, curves and even shells resting on cantilevered frames. Some are not easily recognizable as chairs to those who think along traditional lines.

There was a time — and not too long ago at that — when it was quite easy to point to an object and to say it definitely was a chair. In those days, there were straight-backed wooden ones that were used around kitchen and dining room tables and overstuffed ones, often with tough mohair covers, for the parlor.

But modern technology has taken over. Think about the bean bag and what you thought when it was first introduced. Many among us were amused by it and wondered how in the world anyone could get in or get out of it. Only after giving it a try could most people be convinced these were indeed usable and comfortable.

And there are surprises, too, to be found in the traditional. Chairs known for their lush, elegant coverings are taking on new appearances with wild, colorful fabrics. Suddenly, Louis XV and XVI seem to be made for today.

The next time you start out to shop for chairs, go with an open mind. Try some of the new designs. Who knows, you may find a new style so comfortable you won't be able to resist it.

Directional's Sleek little chair emphasizes the curve. It can be mixed with the contrasting angles and planes found in today's geometrical designs and can turn via a hidden swivel mechanism. Below is new seating from Craft Associates. Framed with PVC plastic tubing, the cushions are filled with shredded polyurethane. The chairs and sofas are available in a variety of lacquer finish colors.

At Left Above, is a chair from Founders that shows the international flair seen throughout the company's line. These unusual shapes and constructions mirror the famous designs coming out of Europe. At right above, is a Barcalounger "So-Low" reclining chair. Done in parrot green, it has caned sides. The wall furniture is by Basic-Witz from its Milan 70 collection. A shag carpet completes the room.

From Globe Furniture Co. comes this armchair, a contemporary offering from its Dimension collection. Nothing seems to support the seat except four wide straps and thin arm cushions slung over the chrome steel frame. Actually, the cantilevered seating shell rests in the steel frame and is anchored to the front cross bar and the square top frame which covers it. At left, a bent chromesteel rocker with the same classic curves associated with bentwood. Imported by Selig, it provides both rocking comfort and contemporary esthetic pleasure.

Auxiliary Post Tells of Coming VFW Events

At Tuesday's meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Harvey Pierre Post No. 2778 of the VFW plans were made for the group's coming events.

Tickets will be on sale for the VFW Post and Auxiliary 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Jan. 31 chicken barbecue. Ralph Sanders and Oscar Van Ryzin are chairmen of the event which is open to the public.

The post's 39th birthday party will be celebrated with a dinner dance beginning at 7 p.m. Feb. 20 with Walter Vandertie and Mrs. Oscar Van Ryzin as co-chairmen.

During this week's luncheon meeting which was served by Mrs. John Nygren, Mrs. Lydia Keuther, Mrs. Orville Muenster and Mrs. John Shea, the community service chairman, Mrs. John Steenis reported that coupons, magazines and birthday cards were given to the Outagamie County Home. Donations were collected for the VFW Cancer Fund, the Wisconsin Cottage Home for Children in Eaton Rapids, Mich., and Operation Help, an organization which aids disabled Cambodian veterans.

A public card party is held every Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 p.m. at the VFW Club which is open to the public.

Altruistic Circle

The Young Women's Altruistic Circle of The King's Daughters, at its meeting Sunday, made a decision to offer its services to the new King's Daughters Meals on Wheels program. The group also announced that 14 members will be ushering for the Children's Theater Feb. 13 and 14.

Altogether Now: Up With the Midi

The Mini Skirt isn't going to be succeeded by the midi but rather by the micro mini, at least so far as one California fashion house. Hitchhiker, is concerned. These micros were displayed

Tuesday at a fashion showing of spring and summer styles at the California Mart in Los Angeles. (AP Wirephoto)

Appleton Nursery Inc. to Have Open House Jan. 21

An Open House for parents with children attending as well as for parents interested in enrolling their children in a co-operative nursery has been scheduled at 8 p.m. Jan. 21 by Appleton Nursery Inc. To be in the nursery room at All Saints Episcopal Church, the meeting has been planned to enable parents to see the facility and equipment, to visit with present members, teachers and the board of directors, to see slides of the children's yearly activities as well as displays of their work. The nursery has classes for 20 children in two age groups: those who are four and five meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and those who are three and four attend Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

For the past three years, the board of directors has sponsored one scholarship child; this year they plan to award two scholarships. Teachers are Mrs. Harry Kimball and Mrs. Carl Stumpf. President of the board of directors is Mrs. John Turner; vice president, Mrs. Avitus Ripp; secretary, Mrs. Robert Comperini; treasurer, Mrs. Richard Stowe, and membership chairman, Mrs. Timothy Driscoll.

Applications are now being taken for the fall term. Interested persons may contact the membership chairman.

Amies' Motto for Spring: 'Lengthen With Caution'

By JULIE FLINT

LONDON (AP) — Hardy Amies, a royal dressmaker, stepped gingerly into spring today with the demilength—the midi with the chop.

Day wear from both his boutique and couture collections was supremely elegant, if unexciting.

Spring silhouettes continued the autumn slim line, with short, soft jackets hugging the body above narrow or bias-cut skirts. Coats flared gently from rolled leather ties at the waist.

With the demilength resting modestly below the knee, the designer did away with the slashed skirts he introduced last year to pepper up the midi.

Muddy Colors Gone

He also toned down his palette, replacing autumn's muddy, boggy colors with quiet pastels—from apricot through spring green to powder blue.

Materials too were soft in tweed, wool crepe and printed silk, teamed with printed scarves and jersey hats moulded to the head and pulled down over the eyebrows.

Amies turned a blind eye on hot pants—the minishorts launched last year by Mary Quant—and he cold-shouldered knickers.

Ladies, he intimated, must be ladies—no trousers, no hot pants, no suggestive splits.

The demure demi also carried the evening, splashed with "color and wrapped in shawls.

Evening Rainbows

For cocktail goers there was "On The Spot," a black and white cotton voile dress and shawl, and "Candida," a black organza demidress with thickly encrusted belt and tiny, iridescent top.

As hemlines dropped for the night hours, so Amies let his hair down and cheered his audience up.

Waves of rainbow silk and chiffon billowing yard upon yard; delicate, fitting tops foamed into clouds of skirt; knife pleats, candy stripes, dizzy prints—a riotous detour into evening.

In the boutique collection, "Sirocco" swept in with its triple-tiered skirt foaming in multicolored, flounced crepe de chine. More demure was "Terraza," a high-necked long-sleeved silk dress printed in blue, black and gold.

For couture customers, Amies revived the Victorian era with "Emma," a cerise chiffon creation, and "Romance," boldly printed in red, green and orange.

Prettiest, however, was "Arden," its plunge-neck bodice knifed into tiny pleats in the skirt and tiered in green and orange organza.

"Carnival" brought the show to a dramatic close. Its cropped top was clashed from neck to waist and patterned in wild oranges, pinks and yellows, before swinging into a circular organza skirt teeming with accordion pleats and dizzy with rainbow stripes.

Menasha Couple Wed 50 Years

MENASHA — Mr. and Mrs. Jason Williams, 131 Kaukauna St., marked their 50th wedding anniversary Monday at a dinner at Koehnke's Wy-La-Way Lounge, Neenah, and a reception at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams.

The couple was married Jan. 11, 1921 at St. Mary Catholic Church.

Mr. Williams, who retired in 1960, was employed by American Can Co. for 33 years.

The couple has three children: Mrs. Clyde Meyer, Neenah, and Jack and Roy, both of Menasha. There are nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The Ailing House Stains Appear on Curtain

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a plain black shower curtain, made of the usual plastic-like material. No matter what I try, I simply cannot remove the stains which develop, apparently from a combination of soap and water mineral deposit. Every time it looks as though I've licked the problem, the stains come back just as soon as the curtain dries. Any suggestions? — Milwaukee.

A: Outside of giving Crew Bathroom Cleaner a good try, I'm stumped. But I'm publishing this in case any kind friends can tell us how they have solved the same problem. Sure will be appreciated.

Q: Although the inside upstairs windows are clear, the storms steam up. What could cause this? I drilled a one-inch hole in the bottom rail of the storms, but it did nothing. — Worcester.

A: Sounds as though the warm, somewhat damp house air leaks out around the edges of the inside windows and condenses on the storms. As an experiment, run felt tape weather-stripping around the edges of one troublesome window. If it stops the steamy storms, do the rest. If not, you'll have to try to lower the humidity, even to the extent of a dehumidifier.

Q: I've had a flutter and ticking in between my walls. But now it has suddenly stopped. Can you tell me what it was? It would be impossible to spray in there because insulation at the attic and cellar would be blocking. — Torrington, Conn.

A: I can't imagine what. But I hope it isn't a suddenly extinct mouse or rat. If so, you'll have to wear a clothespin on your nose for a while or take a nice long vacation.

Q: After 12 years normal service, the cold water taps have decided to run warm for an initial period of perhaps 30 seconds. Can you suggest an easily applied remedy? — Silver Spring, Md.

A: Let it run for 30 seconds. What has probably happened is that insulation at the point where the cold water pipe is close to the hot has worn enough so it's no longer effective. If you wish to save the 30 seconds wait, put more insulation on the pipe.

Construction Program

Board to Study Crowding in Little Chute School System

LITTLE CHUTE — Members of the board of education began preliminary study of possible school construction programs which would help solve the crowded conditions in the district. Action was taken after the overcrowding was mentioned in a report from the State Department of Public Instruction following a recent visit to various schools.

Supt. Leo Bronkalla pointed out that there were 433 children attending the elementary school which consists of 13 rooms. The 25 to 1 student-teacher ratio recommended by the state would necessitate 17 rooms, he noted.

Considered was an area equal in size to the five classrooms on the north side of the building which would be open and used as a multi-media center. The multi-media center would be able to accommodate more students and lend itself to the individual approach to instruction, according to Bronkalla.

Also proposed was an addition to the south side of the existing school which would permit doubling the size of the present gym. The gym, which is currently too small for normal gym use, could then be used for the elementary and junior high programs, high school wrestling and G. A. A. programs and the village recreation program, said Bronkalla.

Also discussed was the possibility of finishing off science, band, commons and other unfinished areas of the high school. Board members reviewed the individual approach to learning being handled on the kindergarten level and advised Bronkalla that a similar approach should be the goal of the district for all levels of education.

8th Candidate Supv. Wussow in Race for Executive

A county board supervisor from Appleton has become the eighth announced candidate for Outagamie County executive. Charles Wussow, 49, 1532 W. Franklin St., a three-term county board member, said he made his decision to seek the office because no candidate "with other than personal or political interests has announced at this time."

Wussow is a member of the board's finance committee. He formerly served on the parks committee and the airport committee.

He holds a degree in geology from Augustana College and a degree in agriculture from the University of Wisconsin. He was an officer in the Navy in World War II.

Wussow said, "I believe this position needs more than an attorney or accountant or any other specialized field. It needs someone with a diverse experience, someone who can communicate with all the members of the county board and someone who has a good working relationship with the people."

He said there is a feeling by the people that the governmental bodies "are controlled by a small group of powerful and selfish individuals who use public office for personal gains and political spring boards. Many feel this power is irresponsible and unaffected by the outcome of an election."

Wussow contended this election would be different. "Because we have a larger selection of candidates, this will present to the voters a totally different picture, a real example of the democratic process."

He said this would give the voter "an opportunity to truly examine and decide who you want working for you."

Wussow claimed that because of his broad experience he would be able to communicate with all people and with the other county board members and county department heads.

Wussow currently is a freelance writer and a director of a consultant service.

Adult Tickets to Linkletter Talk Available Friday

Plans for distribution of tickets for the public appearance of Art Linkletter in Appleton on Jan. 26 were announced today by the Drug Council, Inc. of Outagamie County.

Linkletter, a show business personality and speaker on the topic of drug abuse, will address an adult-only audience at 8 p.m. at Appleton High School-East.

Tickets for the program will be given away through banks beginning at 10 a.m. Friday. Distribution will be on a first come, first served basis with a limit of two tickets per adult.

Area banks cooperating with the drug council include: First National Bank of Appleton and its branch at Greenville; Appleton State Bank and its branches at Dale, Fremont, Hortonville and Shiocot; Northern State Bank; American State Bank; The Outagamie Bank; Valley National Bank; Kimberly State Bank; Bank of Little Chute; Bank of Kaukauna; Seymour State Bank; Bank of Black Creek and Freedom State Bank.

Kaukauna Landfill Is Endorsed

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Qualified endorsement of the challenged Kaukauna sanitary landfill operation was expressed here Wednesday by a widely experienced professional engineer.

"I believe the proposal to be feasible," said William O. White, vice president and secretary of Donohue Associates, consulting engineers headquartered at Sheboygan.

But White indicated that he would prefer to see Kaukauna and neighboring communities participating in solid waste disposal on a cooperative regional basis.

White testified at the state Department of Natural Resources hearing in the Brown County Courthouse Annex.

The proposal also received the backing Wednesday of Bruce Stevens, engineer with the DNR's Lake Michigan District office in Green Bay.

Called on the formal complaint of six citizens and initially convened Nov. 18, the hearing was recessed at 5:45 p.m. Wednesday until this afternoon.

Girl Scout Camp

The Kaukauna controversy involves a tract of 63.72 acres. A substantial portion is a wooded ravine adjoining a Girl Scout camp. The complainants oppose loss of the ravine as a nature study and recreational area. They also contend that the landfill would cause pollution and other environmental damage.

Brought as a witness by Donald Green, Kaukauna city attorney, White stated that he has observed similar landfill operations in the Denver and Chicago areas. His firm has done consultant work for Kaukauna since about 1955, and he was recently asked to review the engineering specification for the landfill.

The Kaukauna plan, which has received official DNR approval, calls for a cell-like procedure of encasing specified quantities of solid wastes in heavy red clay. The clay is to be excavated at the site, and White said he believes an amply supply is available.

Minor Leaching

"There would be no leaching; everything would be confined," White declared. On cross-examination by Peter Nelson, Appleton, attorney for the complainants, White conceded that there might be minor leaching under certain conditions, but it would be a negligible factor.

White discussed BOD — biochemical oxygen demand — as a pollutant, and he was asked whether he has had any experience with BOD.

"About 20 years," he replied.

The clay cover, laid down daily as the trash was deposited, would avoid any rodent or fly problem, White declared.

He discussed the storm sewer which would be laid from 2.2 to 10 feet below the present ravine level to provide drainage from high land back of the ravine. When filled to design level, the sewer would be as much as 85 feet below level. White said a reinforced concrete tube should be in no danger of collapsing under the heavy load of fill.

Although the Kaukauna plans specify a storm sewer 48 inches in diameter, White said he would recommend one of 72 inches, or at least 60 inches. He has calculated that a 72-inch sewer would be capable of

COG Approves Sewage Plan For 2 Towns

Connection Would Link Grand Chute, Menasha Plants

COMBINED LOCKS — Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) delegates gave their blessing Wednesday afternoon to a planned interconnection of sewage treatment plants in the towns of Menasha and Grand Chute.

A few delegates said they didn't like the idea because it seemed to veer from the area-wide regional sewerage plan, but all but Neenah Mayor Roman Hauser voted for the endorsement.

Grand Chute Chairman Ira Livingston said the plan was to connect the Butte des Morts Utility District plant with the planned west side Town of Menasha plant with a forced main which would allow the pumping of overflow sewage to either plant for treatment as the need arises.

The town boards of both towns have approved the plan, he said.

The resolution accepted by COG delegates said that it was "a logical initial step in implementing the area-wide plan in the service area."

Area-wide Plan

The major objection was that the area-wide plan calls for only one plant in that service area.

Livingston pointed out that the resolution indicated that only one of the two plants would be expanded to become the service district's major plant in the long run.

"One of the two plants will be expanded, but not both of them," he said.

Hauser objected to endorsing the Town of Menasha plant connection because the town now is out of COG and would not have to accommodate other municipalities when the area-wide plan is implemented.

He moved to hold over action but got no second for his motion.

Livingston assured fellow COG members that both towns would be willing to extend service outside their boundaries.

Neenah Boy to Get Kidney From Mother

NEENAH — Patrick James Neenah, 3, will be taken to the University of Minnesota Hospital in Minneapolis Monday where he will undergo a kidney transplant.

The child, who was born with a kidney defect, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Walter, 823 Jean St. He will receive a kidney from his mother.

Because of the costs, a fund drive has been established for him and persons may send donations to the Patrick James Walter fund at the First National Bank of Appleton.

Patrick was born with "hypoplastic" kidneys, which means they have not developed normally since birth. He weighs only 15 pounds when he should weigh about 35 pounds, and stands 30 inches tall when he normally should be 35 to 37 inches tall.

This Chart Outlines the basic organization for the new Appleton school administrative structure, prepared by a consultant and approved by the board of education last week. The goals are a decentralized administration, with more responsibility being given to the second-line administrations, and a clear division of departments—the day-to-day educational operations, noneducational administrative services and the newly formed research and development-oriented academic services. Part of the goal is better coordination and communication within the administration, with the group leader providing this among principals and between the principals and director of operations. Task Forces Proposed School Dropouts Are Individuals

BY BOB LAUX
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Professional task forces to tackle the school dropout problem were proposed to area educators Wednesday night by Dr. Robert Ristau of the state Department of Public Instruction.

He dismissed the stock remedy of getting the dropout "in front of a machine" as an "easy out" which ignores individual needs.

Ristau is the department's administrator of vocational education. He spoke during a meeting of Vocational District 12 officials with superintendents, principals and representatives from boards of education at the Forester Club.

"A dropout," he said, "seems to be everybody's concern and nobody's prerogative." Dropouts represent a "cross section of the total student body" who quit school for unique, individual problems, he added.

Some educators have taken a "good hard look at requirements" and devised special education programs, Ristau said. In Milwaukee, a project for 200 students emphasizes basic competencies. Eau Claire, he noted also was meeting the problem.

New Programs

Ristau quoted a two-year-old statement of the National Advisory Committee on Vocational Education as a guideline for community efforts: "Never before has attention to the needs of the individual as a person been more imperative."

Communities must be willing to invest in programs that have limited enrollments and non-standard hours, he said. High school centers with evening and off-hour programs for dropouts, but we have two pieces and the pieces have to be brought together, which you're attempting to do tonight," he said.

An overall challenge to vocational educators are students who drop or graduate from schools and have little knowledge of what employment means, the administrator said.

Career Development

As a corrective, he continued, the department "is on the brink of a career development project in the state to start at the kindergarten level."

He explained the model following the meeting. Last summer at Oshkosh State University, a conference of high school counselors and a national educational resource person isolated 16 concepts essential to career development, he said. Four concepts, such as the dignity of work, were identified as applicable to kindergarten pupils; each of the concepts has four behavioral objectives for creating job awareness and skills that can't wait for students to reach 16 or 18 years of age.

The report will be published this summer, Ristau said, and department personnel will be available to elementary and secondary school teachers for implementation.

Hearing Set on Rail Crossing

A hearing before the Public Service Commission concerning signals at a southwest side railroad crossing will be held at 9 a.m. Friday at Appleton City Hall.

The hearing is being held on the city's request for electronic signals at the S. Perkins Street grade crossing of the Chicago & North Western Railway.

Originally scheduled for Dec. 14, the hearing was postponed on request of the railroad, whose attorney asked time to compile technical data.

Word of Assault May Have Gone To Senior Officers

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — The rules under which the United States wages war in Vietnam and other documents too secret for open court have been shown to the six Army men trying Lt. William L. Calley Jr. on charges of mass murder in My Lai.

And, for the first time, there has been testimony that senior grade officers may have known on the day of the assault on the village that something had gone terribly wrong.

The public and newsmen were excluded from the courtroom Wednesday while the jurors, five of them decorated with ribbons for Vietnam service, studied classified documents that included:

—Data about Americans killed in action in the My Lai area.

—The rules of engagement covering the troops that stormed the hamlet.

March 16, 1968

—The operations report of the parent Americal Division during the quarter in which the March 16, 1968 raid occurred.

On that day, the government charges, Calley killed 102 unresisting "Oriental human beings" by means of shooting them with a rifle.

Until Wednesday the testimony of nearly 20 defense witnesses had been that the orders to devastate the village came from Capt. Ernest Medina, commander of Charlie Company, in which Calley led the 1st Platoon.

But a former helicopter pilot testified that he felt the task force commander, Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, "knew what was going on."

Killed in Crash
Barker was killed in a helicopter crash three months after the attack and long before details of the alleged massacre became known.

D.C. Lind, 22, and now a hired hand for a dairy farmer in Winthrop, Minn., ferried Barker to the task force staging area, known as Landing Zone Dotie.

"Do you remember a conversation in which Lt. Col. Barker, Col. Henderson and Gen. Koster participated?" Lind was asked. "I don't remember who it was," Lind said. "I remember Col. Barker saying something to somebody, 'I don't remember who it was,' 'relieve my anxieties,' or 'I noticed something wasn't right in the My Lai area.'"

Col. Oren K. Henderson was commander of the 11th Brigade, Gen. Samuel Koster, later superintendent at West Point, was commander of the Americal Division.

He Knew
"At that time," Lind said, "what I'd seen at My Lai and what I'd heard him say made me realize he knew what was going on."

Col. Reid Kennedy, the court-martial judge, ordered Lind's remark stricken and the jury to disregard it.

But he allowed an unusual amount of latitude in the questioning of Lind because, he said, "Obviously Col. Barker is dead and there is no way to probe the full information."

Lind testified Barker was not with him when he saw the bodies of 15 to 20 Vietnamese "stacked up" along a village trail, babies among them.

Judge Kennedy asked the former pilot whether he could recall anything "that gave you any indication as to the scope of Col. Barker's knowledge of what was occurring on the ground at My Lai that day."

Defense Contention
"No sir," Lind replied. "Not that I can recall."

The testimony of Lind and his copilot, Christopher Garbow of Tampa, Fla., was intended by the defense to place Barker in the area, on the ground, and in radio communication with the troops. One of the major defense contentions is that Barker or other superior officers knew what was occurring.

Lind said he saw the bodies on the trail while evacuating Herbert Carter, one of Calley's platoon members who had shot himself in the foot.

"I sort of winked at him," Lind testified, "because it looked a little too easy a way to get out of My Lai 4."

Among the documents shown the jury Wednesday was the combat action report filed by Task Force Barker on March 28—12 days after the My Lai assault. It concerns the helicopter attack on the village.

Also placed in evidence was a certificate "that records do not indicate" that Calley's officer candidate class of 1967 received Geneva and Hague Convention instructions any different from those given to earlier OCS classes.

The Geneva Convention sets down international rules for warfare and covers, among other things, the treatment of prisoners and civilians.

State Draft Call
557 for February

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's draft call for February is 557, the Selective Service office said Wednesday.

The quota is higher than January's 431, and higher than the call of 504 for last February.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had announced a national call for January of 17,000 men, the highest in several months.

Charged in Massacre

Court Deliberating On Fate of Hutto

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Six officers, all veterans of Vietnam duty, were expected to begin today deliberating the fate of Sgt. Charles Hutto, charged with assault with intent to murder at least six My Lai villagers.

The defense rested its case Wednesday and Col. Kenneth Howard, the military judge, said lawyers for Hutto and the Army would make their closing arguments before he gives the jury its instructions.

Hutto, the third soldier to be tried on charges arising from an infantry assault on the village March 16, 1968, faces a maximum sentence of 20 years if found guilty.

Hutto, whose court-martial began Jan. 5 at the headquarters of the 3rd Army, was at My Lai as a machine gunner attached to the 2nd Platoon of Charlie Company, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who is being court-martialed on murder charges at Ft. Benning, commanded the 1st Platoon.

Hutto's civilian lawyer, Edward Magill of Miami, Fla., has attempted to show that the soldier went into the village expecting to find at least a battalion of Viet Cong.

A number of defense witnesses testified that Capt. Ernest Medina, the company commander, gave a briefing on the eve of the assault in which he left no doubt that his troops were to kill every living thing in the village.

None of the three former Charlie Company soldiers summoned as prosecution witnesses testified that they saw Hutto firing at the villagers.

But a fourth witness, an agent of the Army's Criminal Investigation Division, testified that Hutto gave him a statement in which he admitted killing "eight or 10" during the assault.

"It was murder," said the statement.

The prosecution contended the statement made it clear Hutto knew that he was doing something wrong.

But the defense produced as a witness a psychologist who testi-

Running Water, a 110-year-old Sioux who was one of three Indians to pose for the Indian head nickel in 1913, lies in a New York hospital after suffering a heart seizure. Doctors said he has the physique of a 65-year-old man.

Recovery of Records Sought

Powell Case May Go to Court

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — admitted last week that he and the Illinois attorney general has Powell's personal secretary, Mrs. Margaret Hensley, removed case into the courts in an attempt to recover records taken from the late secretary of state's office after his death Oct. 10.

Investigators trying to unravel the sources of Powell's estimated $2 million-plus estate have pinned high hopes on the missing documents and Aft. Gen. William J. Scott outlined Wednesday plans for two suits to get the papers back.

So far, ten persons have been placed by witnesses in Powell's office early Oct. 11 before the public announcement of his death in Rochester, Minn. Powell aide Nicholas Ciacio.

Today's Chuckle
"I don't really want a lot of money," said the weary husband. "I just wish we could afford to live the way we're living now." (Copyright 1971)

The legal action could also pertain to the removal of some $750,000 in cash from Powell's Springfield hotel room by the executor of his estate, John S. Rendleman, chancellor of Southern Illinois University's Edwardsville campus.

Circumstances surrounding the discovery of that hoard have strained political relations in Springfield.

Rendleman has said he told Scott, a Republican, of the find early in November. He said he also informed Lt. Gov. Paul Simon and House minority leader Clyde Choate—both Democrats.

But there were reports that Scott's fellow Republican, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, was not informed of the hidden cash until the end of December when the story first became public.

Meanwhile, investigators said Wednesday that Powell's race-track investments and connections earned him more than $100,000 a year.

The Vienna Democrat who spent more than 30 years in state office held stock in Cahokia Downs racetrack, the Chicago Downs Association, the Fox Valley Trotting Club Inc., the Egyptian Trotting Association, Chicago Harness Racing Inc., Mississippi Valley Trotting Association and Maywood Park Trotting Association.

The dividends from those holdings, bank stocks, a $20,000-a-year consultant's fee from Chicago Downs and his $30,000-a-year state salary are estimated

Lucey Wants More Time To Study Spending Requests

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Pat Lucey, saying again that he doesn't see how Wisconsin can avoid tax increases, is asking the legislature to allow him extra time to review the spending requests for the 1971-73 state budget.

Hallows Asks State Court Realignment

Wants Lucey to Appoint Special
Study Committee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Chief Justice E. Harold Hallows of the Wisconsin Supreme Court proposed Wednesday that Gov. Pat Lucey appoint a blue ribbon committee to reorganize the state courts system.

In addition, he recommended that the legislature create immediately 12 additional courts to meet the emergency situation.

"The need for the creation of these courts is imperative," Hallows told nearly 200 judges at the opening of the annual Wisconsin Judicial Conference.

Hallows added: "The Sixth Amendment of the Constitution and Wisconsin statutes require speed trials (60 days for misdemeanors, 90 days for felonies).

If such trials are not given, the accused shall be discharged from custody of his bond. We need these courts to comply with the law. We should not wait for public wrath over the discharge of criminals to give us more judges.

Of the 12 additional courts proposed by Hallows, three county and three circuit courts of general jurisdiction in Milwaukee County were suggested.

Hallows said the blue ribbon committee which he advocates should be independent of all three branches of the state government and the approach should be similar to that used recently to reorganize the executive branch.

$675,000 Tagged for NM Sewage Plant Planning

NEENAH-MENASHA — Twin being referred to the state attorney general for prosecution Wednesday to give sewage plant design engineers Consoer & Townsend the money to begin drawing plans and specifications for a 40 MGD, $17.2 million plant expansion.

The sewage commission has been asking the councils for the $675,000 needed to begin since last August.

C&T engineers say plans will be done in a year and construction will take another two years after that. This means Neenah-Menasha will miss the Department of Natural Resource (DNR) abatement deadline of Sept. 30, 1972.

The cities and the commission are already in the process of

Sludge Handling
Commissioner Adam Haber told the crowd of officials and citizens packed into the Menasha council chambers that the DNR had unofficially said it would cool prosecution plans if a fairly decent date was set for sludge by-pass elimination. Now 1 million pounds a month go into Little Lake Butte des Morts.

Haber said C&T will be instructed to concentrate on sludge handling improvements. Construction on them could begin sooner than anything else. Fees of $1,000 a day or more are cited by Haber as a very real possibility if the go ahead was not given.

$300,000 to Haul
The alternative to rapid development of improved sludge handling is sludge hauling at a cost of $300,000 a year. "That buys nothing but hauling," Haber said. "We get no concrete, no steel and no machinery for that money."

The cities will pay C&T $100,000 at the end of 90 days work on the plans and $60,000 per month after that until the $675,000 is paid. Approval will not be totally official until each council votes its okay in regular meetings next week. Paying for design work will span two calendar years.

Federal Grants
State and federal grants can, and probably will, cover 80 per cent of the total cost — but there are no iron-clad guarantees. DNR and Federal Water Quality Administration (FWQA) bureaucrats will make no commitments until they have approved final plans. Actual payment won't begin until construction is 25 per cent done.

The sewage commission's grant applications have been in for about six months, but are not complete until plans and a user fee are included.

No Tax Support
Mayor James Adams of Menasha warned councilmen he would veto any fee structure that included property tax support.

"I don't wish to bankrupt any industry, and there are some definitely which are going to be pinched. But it is time for industry to take money out of stock dividends and put it into the community. The city, especially the older taxpayers, can't afford increases in property taxes."

The Menasha council has a fee structure based on water bills before it; Neenah is waiting until a report is in from Ald. Thomas Willarson's study committee. Neenah Mayor Roman Hauser said he was in favor of separate meters for each city. This would change the present 50-50 split of cost system.

Sewage Study Offer Gains Support in NM

NEENAH-MENASHA — Weston's part to take over part of the business contracted to them.

Weston proposes to do a $55,000 study — industry will pay — that gives an exact profile of the waste mix coming to the sewage plant. With that information, Weston hopes to suggest cost - saving improvements to C&T in the design of the plant.

James Asmuth, president of Wisconsin Tissue Mills and moving force behind the industries' offer, said there would be no study if council and sewerage commission approval and full cooperation from C&T wasn't assured.

Both councils voted unanimously to urge the sewerage commission to accept the offer, said there would be no study if council and sewerage commission approval and full cooperation from C&T wasn't assured.

Gerald Brask, C&T engineer heading the Neenah-Menasha project, said this morning that the fight because it was hired by local industry and that this implied no criticism of C&T and Weston are direct competitors.

NM School Costs Below State Level

NEENAH-MENASHA — The among 20 school districts with public expenditures survey of the daily average membership workers, the number of professional workers per ADM, the administrative expense per ADM, the instruction expense per ADM, operation per ADM, local maintenance per ADM and state aid.

The number of professional workers during the 1969-70 total monthly income, total assets, the number of needed bedrooms, the type of housing, the person has now, and how much it costs, the number of dependents and if the person would be interested in living in a housing project.

Survey of Elderly Begins in Neenah

NEENAH — A campaign to search out every elderly and low income person who might be eligible for public housing was launched Wednesday by the Neenah Housing Authority and the Chamber of Commerce.

The questions are directed at both low-income and elderly persons and the assets and monthly income is required to determine if the person would be eligible or not.

Pfister and Wiley both stressed that the information was confidential and would be used only to compile the needed statistics to apply for the federal grant.

Ramp Stays At 260-Stalls In Neenah

NEENAH — After hearing that expansion of the proposed parking ramp could not be justified from a potential use or economic standpoint, the public works committee decided to go with a 260 stall facility.

Melvin Siewert, the architect who has been hired to design the ramp, strongly recommended against building the structure with expansion in mind.

"We can engineer anything you want, but in good conscience I can't recommend expansion for the good of the city," he said.

Citing a National Garages' report, Siewert said expansion of the ramp beyond the 260-car capacity would not be economically feasible because, as proposed, the ramp could accommodate between 560 and 590 cars a day while the anticipated demand on the ramp will be less than 500.

Siewert also pointed out that the cost of beefing up the foundation to accommodate one floor would add about 30 per cent to the cost, while designing for two more floors would nearly double the $34,000 foundation cost.

"We've run into some problems with the soil conditions that we didn't expect. There's a spongy layer that we'll have to get through so it means that we'll have to go between nine and eleven feet deep to get the soil support we need."

Salary Schedule Established For Four Sherwood Officials

SHERWOOD — Salary schedules for the village clerk, treasurer, assessor and health officer were established by the village board Tuesday night, as well as payment for meetings attended by the six trustees and the president.

The constable's wage rate was not established, pending a meeting with him to define his duties.

According to the schedule, prepared by the village board, the finance committee, headed by Trustee Kenneth Kress, the clerk will receive $300; treasurer, $150; assessor, $100 and health officer $25 a year.

Two Abandon Store Holdup With Nothing

Two young males wearing ski masks, one of them armed with what appeared to be a long-barreled pistol, fled with nothing Wednesday night after an attempted holdup of a south side grocery store.

Police were notified of the suspected armed robbery of the Stop-N-Go store, 319 E. Calumet St., by one of three female customers who entered the store while the robbery was supposedly in progress. The girl, who telephoned authorities from a nearby home at 8:27 p.m., told them a clerk alerted her to the apparent crime.

Defectives were told that the two men, who wore blue jackets, entered the store, and one of them directed a clerk, adjusting stock in the rear, to lie on the floor. His partner, police were told, went to the cash register. The first man stood guard on the clerk with what appeared to be a long-barreled pistol, in view as he stood over her, authorities said.

Encountering difficulty in opening the cash register, police were told, the first man asked for help from the clerk. As she gave him instructions, three girls were about to enter the store when one of the robbers said, "Forget it," and the pair fled empty-handed.

Police & Fire Beat

Tommy Shead, 21, 1116 Lakeshore Drive, Menasha, was given until this afternoon to hire an attorney when he appeared Wednesday before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller on a worthless check charge.

Shead allegedly passed the bogus $7.05 check last Oct. 23 at Ralph's Service Station, 134 N. Richmond St., Appleton. Bond was set at $50.

Burglaries at two Appleton service stations, on Wednesday, and the other early today, are under investigation by detectives.

An estimated $75 in cash and change was reported missing from a cash register after a break-in at Jack and Dick's Service Station, 1818 N. Locust St., which was entered late Tuesday or early Wednesday after a pane of glass in an overhead door was smashed.

A solid-state, digital clock radio is missing from Jack's Double O Standard Service, 300 W. Northland Ave., after a burglary there early today. Detectives said intruders broke a door glass.

A traffic accident Wednesday morning involving three cars, one of them parked, brought a knee bruise for Thomas Lutz, 18, 617 Ridge Lane, passenger in a car driven by Edward W. Besch, 19, 116 Sunset Ave.

Police said the Besch car, and one operated by Audrey E. Weber, 31, 1026 W. Oklahoma St., collided at Mason and Oklahoma streets, and that the Besch car careened into a parked auto owned by Harold Christen, 28, 812 E. Taft Ave.

Ann Randerson, 49, 1006 S. Walden Ave., suffered a bump on the head Wednesday morning when the auto her husband, Patrick, 49, was driving, was hit parking lot directly south of the bank and the purchase of an additional lot to be used for employee parking.

Snowmobile Law Shunned

SHERWOOD — This community won't adopt a snowmobile ordinance — at least not now.

Trustee Geoffrey Mueller, chairman of the village board, discussed the matter at the village board meeting Tuesday night. He pointed out the confusion facing the village board members and called it "a very sound editorial".

Mueller urged snowmobilers out that while there were only a few violators, all snowmobilers boom to the area and the state. "There have been people of problem is quite knotty and will complaining about snowmobilers, but none of the complaints have been made with the village," Mueller said.

One resident appeared at a meeting several months ago asking for an ordinance particularly those having complaints not to taking action which could prove to be law enforcement overly repressive — or ridiculous.

Suspect Arson, Burglary in Oshkosh Fire

Manufacturing Plant 5th Such Case in Area in 4 Months

OSHKOSH — A state fire marshal and local officials are investigating a burglary and possible arson Wednesday night at the Oshkosh Manufacturing Corp., Glass Division, 2100 Harrison St.

It was the fifth reported case of burglary and suspected arson in that area in the last four months. The other burglaries and fires were at Coe Drug Co., Doctor's Park; CM Manufacturing Co., 222 E. Nevada Ave.; Terrace Cleaners, 15 W. Murodock Ave.; and M. W. Williams Roofing, 1821 Harrison St.

The Oshkosh Fire Department received a call about 6:10 p.m. from a patron at a nearby bar who noticed smoking coming from the one-story block building.

Damage Undetermined
It took 16 firemen and five trucks about 20 minutes to get the fire under control. Damage to the building and contents is as yet undetermined although it has been listed as major by the fire department, according to a report by a duty chief.

When firemen arrived at the building, they found windows in an overhead door broken and the door unlocked. The firemen notified police of a possible burglary.

Investigating police officers found the rear overhead door had been the point of entry for a burglar who took $3 to $5 in change from a front office.

Firemen reported the cause of the fire is undetermined, but they said it may have started in a paint spray booth.

Thomas Moore, 1122 Washington Ave., is owner of the business.

City Firm Seeks Option on Land In Industrial Park

An Appleton packaging materials manufacturer won approval Wednesday from a City Council committee for an option on about six acres of land in the Northeast Industrial Park.

Duralum, Inc., currently headquartered at 1310 N. Lincoln Ave., is seeking a six-month option of the tract, located near the city garage.

The Commerce and Industrial Development Committee recommended granting the option at a cost of 2 per cent of the gross selling price of the land. The selling price is to be time

Suspect Arrested For Burglaries at Seven Churches

Outagamie investigators Wednesday arrested a 25-year-old suspect in seven separate burglaries at four area Roman Catholic churches during the past two months.

A Town of Holland man, formerly of Shawano, awaited a first court appearance this morning. He was being held in the county jail on a parole hold from the probation department, while formal charges were pending.

Authorities allege the suspect, since Dec. 2, 1970, took an estimated $150 from votive stand boxes and pamphlet racks at Holy Cross and St. Mary's Churches in Kaukauna, St. Francis in Holland, St. Mary in Appleton and St. Nicholas in Freedom. Holy Cross and St. Francis had been hit twice.

When he was taken into custody in Holland Wednesday afternoon, the man was on parole from the Green Bay Reformatory where he had served a term for a forgery conviction lodged in Shawano County in 1969.

Authorities said the most recent of the offenses may have occurred Tuesday at the Hollandtown parish.

Mayors Meet In Racine on Tax Reforms

RACINE (AP) — Tax reform will be a major topic Friday when the Wisconsin Alliance of Cities holds its first meeting in Racine since organizing two years ago.

Mayor Kenneth L. Huck said about 50 mayors, city managers and other representatives of the 15 member cities are to attend.

William Beyer, former Racine mayor who is alliance secretary, will report on the state legislature's joint finance committee, which concluded its last round of meetings in December with few recommendations on tax reform.

Mrs. Henry Lardy of Madison, chairman of the steering committee of the newly formed statewide Coalition for Action, will give a progress report on the drafting of a new tax reform bill for the 1971 legislature.

The alliance is a member of the coalition.

The committee recommendation goes to the Plans Commission.

In other action the committee recommended erecting signs on the Northeast and Southwest industrial parks to identify the sites, under orders issued some time ago by the council.

Stevens stated that he found the Kaukauna plans to be quite satisfactory. He pointed out that the heavy red clay which would be utilized does not permit much seepage of moisture.

"There are three basic objectives of landfill — prevention of pollution, prevention of odor, and protection of the public health," he pointed out.

Stevens said that while plans, machinery and natural physical conditions may be adequate, environmental protection still depends upon municipal morality.

"I am no prophet, but the capabilities are there, and I have faith in the engineering capabilities of people. We can't positively predict what will occur, but we must continue to have faith in mankind," Stevens declared.

"No Running Water"
He was questioned by Nelson about his inspection of the site. Much has been made at the hearing in previous testimony about the small stream flowing through the ravine. In spring, witnesses said, the stream becomes a torrent.

Stevens tramped up and down the ravine on May 18, 1970, and visited the site again on Sept. 17 and about Oct. 1.

"I saw no running water," he said.

Hearing Ordered On 7 Burglaries

A presentence investigation was ordered this morning for Gary Dorschner, 21, formerly of 817 W. Packard St., after he was found guilty of seven counts of burglary. He entered guilty pleas to each before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller, who returned Dorschner to jail without bond. Sentencing was referred to County Judge Nicholas F. Schaefer who is out of town, and will be back Monday.

County investigators alleged that Dorschner broke into several separate establishments in Appleton, Kaukauna and the Town of Grand Chute on March 9 and 15 in 1969. An estimated $575 was missing after the assorted burglaries, including some electronic equipment.

the day was Robert Pfister, biology instructor at Kaukauna High School. He said he was well acquainted with the area, and did a dissertation for his master's degree on plant life in a floodplain near the disposal site.

"I found about 212 species, and that is not complete," he reported.

Pfister said he was acquainted with the wooded ravine in the proposed landfill site, but has not made a detailed study of the flora. He said the species overall would differ somewhat from plants growing in the floodplain, and by the Town of Algoma that its urban area could connect

He called on other COG communities to make as much of a commitment.

Outside Service

"We're putting it down in writing that we're willing to service outside our boundaries," he said. "How many of you are ready to go to the four-plants system. You've made no effort to try to implement it."

Town of Menasha Chairman Roland Kampe said that his town would build the plant, whether or not it got COG endorsement but wanted the blessing in its seeking of reimbursement funds from the federal government.

Livingston warned COG delegates that they shouldn't expect support for their individual projects if they weren't willing to support others' projects. He noted his community was facing a state order and couldn't wait any longer.

Patrick Flanagan, Kimberly director of public works and COG delegate, said that COG delegates shouldn't be concerned with the duplication of operations if the two towns were willing to support them.

He also complained that other communities were dragging their feet, and said that only Kimberly's governing board has adopted the four-plant system. COG delegates have okayed it, but it hasn't been acted on by other municipalities' boards of counsils.

Other Business

In other business, COG delegates:

— Heard a report from Roger Baird, chairman of the COG citizens advisory committee, urging COG to seek enabling state legislation to create an authority to implement waste water treatment and solid waste disposal regional plans. No action was taken but the wheels of grind out proposed legislation and a dissertation for his master's degree on plant life in a floodplain near the disposal site.

— Okayed resolutions by Baird that its planned sewerage plant improvements conformed with the regional plan and by the Town of Algoma that its urban area could connect

C. W. Schueppert, K-C Treasurer, To Retire Jan. 18

NEENAH — Kimberly-Clark Corporation announced today that Charles W. Schueppert, treasurer, will retire Jan. 18 and that Donald R. Hibbert, vice president, finance, will assume the additional office of treasurer.

Schueppert joined Kimberly-Clark in 1934 and was named treasurer of the worldwide paper and paper products company in 1966. Previously he had spent 11 years at the company's Niagara Falls, N. Y., plant. He returned to Neenah headquarters in 1945 to direct activities of the mill cost section and budget and control units until 1958 when he became comptroller. He was named director of corporate planning in 1963.

Schueppert will continue other local business associations in the area. He is a director of the Bank of Menasha.

Man Is Accused In Bomb Incident

MANTOWOC (AP) — A hearing is scheduled Monday for a young man whom authorities have accused of a role in the recent discoveries of explosive-like devices in Manitowoc.

Vernon E. Diegel Jr., 21, was charged Wednesday in Manitowoc County Court with illegal possession of explosives concerning discovery of dynamite at a factory Sunday. The dynamite had no detonator.

A dynamite wrapper was found outside a Lincoln High School auditorium door Wednesday, causing a delay in classes while police searched the building.

sewerage lines with Oshkosh and be in conformance.

— Authorized a planner to attend a meeting of federal environmental officials in Madison Friday to reaffirm COG endorsement of the multi-county air pollution control region named for this area. The region is coterminous with the counties of the two northeastern Wisconsin administrative districts. Air pollution fighting probably will act on a regional basis.

Candidate Announces For 11th Ward

The 11th Ward's seat on the City Council has become the most sought-after in Appleton, with the entry of a fourth candidate for the post currently held by Ald. Arthur Hoolihan.

Mrs. Beverly F. Wieckert, 35, of 43 S. Meadows Drive, received nomination papers for the post Wednesday from City Clerk Elden Broehm.

She is the third woman candidate for alderman in the city this year, and the second in the 11th Ward race.

The other woman candidate in that contest, Mrs. Mary E. Laux, 32, of 57 Fairway Court, filed completed nomination papers Wednesday to become the first of the four to qualify to have her name placed on the ballot.

Besides Hoolihan, Kenneth J. Priebe, 33, 1206 S. Ritger St., is circulating nomination papers.

If more than two of the candidates file completed papers, a primary will be necessary March 2.

Mrs. Wieckert is a housewife and mother of two children. She has been active in the League of Women Voters, Appleton Taxpayers Association, the municipal and county affairs committee of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce and other civic activities.

She is seeking her first elective office.

Kimberly Trustee Won't Run Again

KIMBERLY — After 24 years in public office, Paul Van Dyke announced Wednesday that he would not be a candidate for reelection as village trustee in the April election.

Van Dyke served 12 years as village assessor prior to being elected village trustee. He is currently serving as chairman of the administration committee of the village board, serves on the personnel committee and is acting board president when he is on a regional basis.

Police & Fire Beat

An employee of the Midland Outagamie Co-op, 3011 W. Wisconsin Ave., told the sheriff's department Wednesday that a tractor, equipped with an end-loader, was stolen over the weekend.

Two women were hospitalized Tuesday night following a four-car accident on E. Wisconsin Avenue, near Durkee Street. Judith M. Klitzke, 24, Hortonville, one of the drivers, sustained a cut nose, bump on the head and sore legs. She, and a passenger, Selma Griesbach, 59, Hortonville, who had cuts to her head and left arm, were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by ambulance.

Appleton police, who said that the accident still is being investigated, identified drivers of the other cars involved as: Michael M. Vernagen, 48, 814 N. Meade St., Lois H. Gass, 40, 205 N. Story St., and Conrad J. Brinkman, 34, route 6, Appleton.

A two-way radio and its antenna mounted on top of the car were reported stolen to Appleton police Tuesday night by James P. Pitt, 801 Seventh St., Menasha. Pitt, who valued the missing items at $165, said they were removed while he was parked in the West Parking Ramp between 5:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Two persons suffered minor injuries Tuesday night after one car, unable to avoid striking the rear of another when the second stopped suddenly for a vehicle in front, in the 100 block of E. Wisconsin Avenue. Appleton police identified drivers involved with Allen J. Goodearle, 23, 911 N. Lochschrider for all village office. Daniel C. Sturm, 19, 300 First St., Menasha. Goodearle suffered an unspecified, but believed president are James Siebers minor injury, while a passenger and Eugene Schellhout. Incumbent in the other car, Jane M. bent John Gafney, James Wiegand, 19, 1406 N. Viola St., Bergeon and Russell Zillges complained of a sore right leg.

Edward B. Krizek, 56, Sey-Dyke has not taken out papers, complained of a sore and the third incumbent, neck after his car and one Schellhout, is seeking the presidency. Carol A. Givold, 39, dency.

Outagamie County Judge Nicholas F. Schaefer ordered a presentence investigation Monday for a 26-year-old Manawa man who pleaded no contest to a charge of burglary. Schaefer found Ronald Billick guilty and scheduled sentencing for Jan. 26. Billick, who is being held in the county jail without bond, broke into Peck's Beer Depot in the Town of Dale either Dec. 31 or early Jan. 1 and took two quarter barrels of beer.

KAUKAUNA — Two young Appleton men were fined and one took a 10-day term in the county jail with Huber Law privileges after pleading guilty to charges of disorderly conduct before Municipal Justice Clarence O'Connor Monday.

The three were arrested Dec. 18 after a disturbance in the lobby of Kaukauna Community Hospital where they waited while a companion was being given emergency treatment after being involved in an accident.

Fined $20 were Shane Mullens, 27, 815 N. Appleton St., and William Wendi, 20, 508 W. Foster St. Taking the 10-day jail sentence was Douglas Suter, 19, 923 W. Kamps St. The three also were ordered to make restitution for $62.50 damage done at the hospital.

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called to Golden Venture Apartments, 125 W. Tenth St., at 7:50 p.m. Monday when a joint in a water line let loose causing flooding in the hallway of the building.

MEDINA — Two motorists received minor injuries Monday morning when their vehicles collided three miles east of here on U.S. 10 Robert P. Jung, 22, Manitowoc, received a head bump while the other driver, Gregory C. Mignon, 21, 913 Grand Ave., Little Chute, sustained a small head cut and complained of soreness to his neck and shoulder.

Outagamie County police said that one of the cars struck the rear of the other after its driver was blinded by snow sent flying from an oncoming truck that temporarily entered the ditch.

Young Hobby Club Bouncing Rubber Ball Tumbles Clothespins

BY CAPPY DICK
The game described as today's fun-project for boys and girls is suitable for playing wherever there is indoor space to bounce a rubber ball without causing damage.

Knock 'em Over
In addition to the ball you will need a 15-inch square of cardboard (or wrapping paper) for a target area and 12 spring-type clothespins. Stand the clothespins in the formation shown in the illustration. You are then ready to play the game with a friend or your opponent. Stand at any side of the target you prefer. Bounce the ball on the floor as close to the target as possible without touching it. However, you must aim to have the ball descend on the target, land among the 12 clothespins and knock some or all of them over. You earn one point for each one that falls. After the clothespins have been placed upright again the next player gets a turn.

The player who has knocked over the most clothespins in 10 turns wins the game.

SEND FOR CAPPY DICK'S HELPFUL BOOKLET!

Mother! The soda bottle game described on page 15 of Cappy Dick's "Birthday Party Stunts" booklet will be great fun for the children when you are entertaining youngsters. There are 44 other good ideas, too. To get a copy to keep on hand send 50 cents in coin, plus a self-addressed, stamped envelope to CAPPY DICK BOOKLETS, P.O. Black Heritage Display Featured at Madison

MADISON (AP) — A "black heritage" exhibit will be opened Friday at the Wisconsin State Historical Society in honor of the late Martin Luther King's birthday.

The exhibit, portraying the historical experience of black people from ancient African kingdoms to contemporary Afro-American society, is one of three documentaries on Black America being set up across the country, the society said.

Gov. Patrick J. Lucey and several hundred Madison school children are scheduled to be in attendance Friday for the ribbon cutting ceremony.

Greenville Civic Club Plans Annual Dinner

GREENVILLE — The Greenville Civic Club Inc. will have its annual dinner at 8 p.m. Saturday, in the Silver Dome Hall, Greenville.

The Rev. Philip W. Hanson, Greenville, will give the invocation and the Richard Lamer's family will provide entertainment. Dancing and refreshments will follow.

Standards for Late Diplomas To be Studied

Adults in Kimberly Request Review of School Credit Policy

KIMBERLY — Area school officials will meet to establish uniform standards for adults seeking high school diplomas, the board of education learned Monday night.

Supt. of Schools Ray Hamann reported that guidance director Warren Jarvis had made a survey of schools in the area to determine the types of credit being honored for delayed diplomas.

Schools vary considerably, Hamann said, but the meeting is planned to eliminate the possibility of one school having requirements so low it could get a reputation as a "diploma mill."

The issue was brought up after the board received requests from adults for a review of the Kimberly district policy on diploma requirements.

A report from John Lawrence, representative of the State Department of Public Instruction, who visited all schools in the district, was very favorable. Board members were told.

Mrs. Marie Ruys, Joseph Van Daalwyk and Maurice Biersteker, board members, and business manager Myron Huth were authorized to attend a Wisconsin Association of School Boards' telephone conference Jan. 14 at the Outagamie County Courthouse.

Board members on the bargaining team were authorized to attend the state association's conference on negotiations Feb. 3 at Oshkosh. Hamann and board member James Kluge will attend a conference on "Accountability in Education" to be sponsored by the National School Boards Association in Chicago, Feb. 4 through 6.

Board members signed a long-range vocational school plan prepared by Jerry Kane, local vocational school coordinator, required to permit the district to apply for federal funds for various programs.

Miss Kathleen Welhouse was hired to teach elementary school art for the second semester at a salary of $3,600. She will replace Miss Betty Kaufman.

Spirit Inc. Coming From Davenport With Director Tom Downs for Special Concert

BY JINGO

Remember Tom Downs and his Sole Singers at St. Paul Church in Combined Locks? Well, he has done it again. This young man who has no trouble at all with a generation gap. He's now youth director in the Religious Education Office for the Catholic Diocese of Davenport (in Iowa). And nat-

(They still owe $6,000 on it but it had to be or else give up their magnificent work around the state.)

Concert time is 8 p.m. and friends of both Tom Downs and his wife, Bernice, (she does the choreography for the Spirit Inc. singers and gets along with the Davenport high schoolers as well as her husband, and backurally, since he's been there, this founder of the Sole Singers of Combined Locks has started a new group of youth who call themselves Spirit Inc.

The news is that these youngsters are performing at St. Paul Church in Combined Locks in a two-hour concert with the hometown Sole Singers. There always has been a wonderful rapport between the Combined Locks group and whichever one Downs was directing at the time.

Fund for Bus

The reason for this concert is to help swell the funds for the Sole Singers' brand new bus.

Family Affair Has Romantic Twist in Plot

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-9 Channel 5 — If Christmas comes, can The Bob Hope Christmas Special be far behind? Here is this year's edition, again culled from his annual holiday visit to our troops all over. They started with 170,000 feet of film, and will probably be editing until just about air time, so TV Scout cannot be certain which bits and pieces will be shown. But you are sure to see the main entertainers who went along — Hope, of course, and Ursula Andress, Lola Falana, Gloria Loring, Robbi Martin, Johnny Bench (who sings surprisingly well and handles himself nicely in skits, too) and Jennifer Hosten, Miss World of 1971.

6:30-7 Channels 2-7 — Family Affair lets Cissy (Kathy Garver) and a young intern (Peter Duryea, Dan's son) discover each other. The doctor is the son of Emily (Nancy Walker) and Emily is worried that a romance might interfere with her boy's career. So she tries a little un-matchmaking.

6:30-7:30 Channels 11-9 — Matt Lincoln winds up his short and not-too-sweet career with this show. His patient is Chris, the concert-pianist cousin of Matt's late wife. Chris thinks he's going deaf, which would be terrible for a pianist. Matt (Vince Edwards) tries to restore his confidence, but it isn't easy. Playing Chris is John Rubinstein, the son of the great pianist, Arthur Rubinstein.

6:30-7:30 Channel 5 — Zero Mostel, one of the world's funniest men, joins the roster of guests on The Flip Wilson Show and the two work well together. One of their best collaborations is a skit in Charley's Diner, with Charley (Flip) thinking week's episode. In it, Ben that Zero is a robber. Steve Lawrence is also around, and he can handle a gag line as well as any singer. For music, there is Roberta Flack, who plays piano and sings, with a nice solo on "Let It Be Me."

7:30-8 Channels 11-9 — Things get a bit confusing near the end of Bewitched when Samantha (Elizabeth Montgomery) impersonates her mother (Agnes Moorhead) and vice versa. This all occurs when Darrin (Dick Sargent) dreams up a new campaign for a candy account — mother-in-law-of-the-year. And, naturally, his own mother-in-law wants the job. John McGiver is funny, as usual, as the big candy maker.

8:30 Channels 11-9 — The second of three dying shows dies tonight — Barefoot in the Park. The demise of this one is a tragedy, because it could have made it except for dissension and temperament. It ends with a repeat of a show which features Corie (Tracy Reed), who models a dress at a charity affair. That creates some fiscal problems for her husband (Scoey Mitchell).

8:30-9 Channels 11-9 — The Odd Couple is one of the few shows that doesn't have a black cast member, nor has it ever done a show about the plight of the Indians. Because of this, at every story conference there was static about doing an ethnic show. This got to be a running joke around the show, and finally they decided to do one — about a poor Eskimo. This is (Jack Klugman) is helping an Eskimo quarterback (Reni Santoni) get a good deal with the pros. Felix (Tony Randall) finds out that the kid also plays the cello and would rather play Bach than back. But he's really not a very good cellist, and the conservatory that wants him is only interested in getting a token Eskimo.

9-10 Channels 11-9 — The Immortal proves its mortality by ending its life with this week's episode. In it, Ben that Zero is a robber. Steve Lawrence is also around, and he brother — maybe. Fletcher (Don Knight) finds both of Plaza Theater, Oshkosh — them, and the chase is on. And on. And off.

9-10 Channel 5 — This is the third year that Orson Welles has guest-starred on The Dean Martin Show, which makes it one of the most interesting of Dean's TV adventures. Welles makes a good foil for Dean, particularly in a skit in which he is a fashion commentator for a new line of boxer's trunks (bows, ribbons, lace) with Dean as the champ. Welles also does a straight dramatic reading, the story of Noah.

Danes Will Accept Ex-Student-Rouser AARHUS, Denmark (AP) — Rudi Dutschke, the former West German student rouser, hopes to become an assistant teacher at the University of Aarhus.

Prof. Johannes Sloek of the history of ideas department said Sunday Dutschke, now facing deportation from England, had accepted the post and was expected to arrive next month.

The British immigration tribunal has rejected an appeal by Dutschke against a decision by the home office not to renew his residence permit.

The Flying Header that Buffalo Sabres center Phil Govette took over fallen Chicago Black Hawk goalie Phil Esposito (lower left) was worth the effort as the puck landed in the net for a score. The action came in the first period of Wednesday night's game in Chicago. Other players are Chicago's Bill White (2) and Pat Stapleton (12) and Buffalo's Gil Perreault. The Black Hawks rallied to win, 4-2. (AP Wirephoto)

Lourdes, Hawk Quints Meet; Chuters Play Host to Cadets

Knights and Xavier is one of the feature tilts on the 4-game Fox Valley Catholic Conference schedule for the weekend that finds two games being played Friday and another pair Saturday.

In Friday clashes, Green Bay Premontre will be at Little Chute St. John while Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs will visit DePere Abbot Pennings. On Saturday, Manitowoc Rancalli plays at Marinette Central and Lourdes is at the Xavier gym.

No one could blame the Hawks if they are getting Court of Australia who scored a "bugged" by the overtime hex grand slam in tennis by winning that seems to have a grip on

Saturday's Games:
Little Chute at Wausaukee

The Central Wisconsin Conference race heads into its second round of the season Friday night when all three visiting teams will be seeking revenge on their hosts for earlier season losses.

The top contest of the evening sends co-runnerup Marion (4-2) to pace-setting Bonduel (6-0), while Manawa (2-4) invades Wittenberg-Birnwood (3-3) and Shiocton (1-5) journeys to Wautoma (1-5).

Saturday non-league action sees Little Chute, 4-2 in the league and 8-2 overall, on the road to Wausaukee.

Marion will be trying to atone for a 79-51 thumping at the hands of the Bears on the Mustang court back on Nov. 20, 19 points, respectively, for the and it could be in the cards for Bears while Peterson and Daley an upset if coach Glenn Fleetwood's cagers can use momentum from a 4-game conference win skein.

After losing to Bonduel, Marion also fell to Wittenberg-Birnwood by a 73-53 count. But the turnaround began when the Mustangs nudged Little Chute, 63-62, and since then the Mustangs have added three Freedom and Mishicot, possessors of identical 5-2 records, will battle it out on the Mishicot court Friday for sole ownership of second place (or a possible share of the lead) in the Olympian Conference.

League-leading Valders (6-1) visits Brilliant (3-4), Reedsville (4-3) invades Wrightstown (0-7), and Hilbert (2-5) ventures to Denmark (3-4).

Freedom is the hottest team in the conference with four straight league victories — the latest a 63-62 verdict over leading Valders.

Mishicot carries a 3-game streak into the contest. One of its losses, 67-49, was to Valders. The Indians downed Freedom, 55-45, in the season opener.

Top Scorers
The Irish have three scorers in the top nine, headed by pacesetter Joe Vandenberg who owns a 20-point average. Tony Brockman is fourth with a 15.7 mark and Bob Garvey is ninth at 12.7.

Ray Berres, a 6-5 pivot man, paces the Indians with a 16 point average — third in the league. Al Schmidt sports a 10.5 average.

Valders' scoring is paced by Ken Larson, 15.1 average. Lou Rusch, 12.4, and Jim Pivonka, 12.3. Brilliant is led by 6-3 Hervey Smith (14.7), 5-8 Jeff Brandes (12.4), and junior Tom Schwahn (11.9).

Key Scorer
Reedsville is keyed by the league's second best scorer Scott Schuit with a 19.3 average. Elmer Dvorachek is averaging 12.1 and John Kugle 10.7.

Wrightstown doesn't have anyone in double figures and is scoring last over 40 points a ball game.

Mike Novak, a 6-5 sophomore, paces the Hilbert offense with a 12.7 average. John Schneider is scoring at a 11.1 clip and Jeff Schwabenlander 10.1.

Denmark's top scorers are Jim Lettermann (13.3) and Dan Karbon (13).

While much of the major snow on the track is being shifted to the northern part of the state for the next two weekends, which holds a capacity crowd of the Fox Cities area will not be 3,000.

The USIA-sanctioned races will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday.

State and national attention will be focused on Rhineland for the annual Hodag 50 and grand prix races slated this weekend. The Hodag 50 is a cross country endurance test of men and machines and Rhineland is anticipating a crowd of over 40,000.

The following weekend (Jan. 22, 23 and 24), the world snowmobile championships are slated for Eagle River and this event will probably draw somewhere near 50,000 people to the north country.

In the Fox Cities area, Weyauwega is all set for its first big Pow Wow Snowmobile Derby Saturday and Sunday. Sponsoring unit is the Jaycees. Races will be at the Waupaca County Fairgrounds located at the southeast city limits. The 1/2 mile oval track with its natural bank is one of the best in the state, enabling drivers to reach top speeds.

Tom VandeHey slammed a 234 game on his way to a 606 total for honors in the Rambow Couples League at 41 Bowl.

Harold Nelson added 591, and Ed Gauerke rapped 225-587.

The Bird Couples League at Little Chute Recreation Lanes saw Gene Dercks power a 233-599 combination. Dick Ebben turned in the top game of 243.

Joe Van Schyndel's 232-581 aggregate paced the Western Couples League at 41 Bowl. Bill Weiss rolled 580.

Kert Utwelling's 227 count bossed the Cigarette Couples League at Hahn's Lanes.

Ken Schaffer slammed a 215 in AHS-E League.

Ker Schaffer slammed a 215 game, and Dan Lumpert and Jerry Koepsel hit a 493 series each to lead the latest round of action in the Appleton High School-East Bowling League at Sabre Lanes.

Mark Winkler rolled a 193 held on an oval layout at the line. Dave Ruggles had 190 and 493, and Lumpert had a 182 line.

For the girls was Glen Gee with a 191 game while Ann and Trunk had a 178 game and 451.16 Oval races Sunday will be series.

On Jan. 23 and 24, U. S. Snowmobile Association sanctioned races will be held at Clintonville. Sponsoring units are Lions Club, American Legion and the Truck City Riders Snowmobile Club.

A guaranteed purse of $2,500 is set for the Clintonville races, but an increase in entries could boost this figure by race-time.

The Clintonville races will be held on an oval layout at the Municipal Airport Drag races 493, and Lumpert had a 182 line.

BY CHUCK TORINUS

The sking season got off to a good start in this upper Midwest region where areas to the north were blessed with early snow. And since that time, approximately Dec. 1, there has been heavy concentrations of fresh flakes to the point where ski slopes are well established for a long season. And that's the only answer to all those "Think Snow" advocates.

And now let me elaborate on boys and pieces of skiing news.

Here's a word of advice to true beginner skiers: plan now to get a good start in skiing by availing yourself of the volunteer instruction services provided at the annual Post-Crescent Ski School. The ninth annual session is scheduled for two Saturday mornings, January 23 and 30. Classes will get underway promptly at 9:30 a.m. each day and will run till noon. Site again this year is the View Ridge Ski Area near New London.

The purpose of the ski school is to pass on the basic starting fundamentals of skiing to young and old beginners.

Instruction will be provided by experienced volunteers from throughout the Fox Cities area. There is still a need for instructors and anyone interested in giving of their time to help out a fellow skier can simply call the Promotion Department or myself at The Post-Crescent.

Besides the five hours of instruction to be offered for a nominal registration fee, The Post-Crescent has arranged with Mo-Ski-To, Inc., who operate View Ridge, to have ski school students ski at reasonable rates both Saturday afternoons. This will give all an opportunity to practice what they have learned and make for a day of fun. Bring a lunch, along and hot and cold beverages will be available in the lodge.

Next week, The Post-Crescent will publish a few articles dealing with equipment, safety and preparation that might be helpful to students. Also, directions will be given to locate View Ridge.

See you there!

We received word recently about a great ski trip to Aspen that is being made available to Fox Cities skiers. A fine, established ski club in the Green Bay area, The Ventures, is sponsoring a charter flight trip to that great Rocky Mountain resort March 20 through 27.

And not only do they offer the opportunity to ski for days at any of the four Aspen hills, but also included in the package rates are the round trip flight from Green Bay to Denver, round trip, motor coach transportation from Denver to Aspen, fine accommodations and tour escorts. You have the opportunity to select three price ranges — $239.95; $249; $254 — depending on your choice of room. Let me say, as an experienced traveler to that mecca of the West, those totals are terrific.

The group going is out to have a good time this spring. If you're interested, get on the phone now and call Mary Antin in Green Bay at 1-414-437-1714.

A flourishing ski club in the Fox Cities area, the Sly Fox, has been underway with their annual endeavors since October. The group involves 100-plus members whose sole purpose is to have fun and good fellowship. Skiing is their bag, or most of the time. The other times are just good socializing.

Serving as officers for 1970-71 are Paul Gross, Neenah, president; John Mirace, 1231 E. Layton Ave., vice president; Mary Ann Werner, Neenah, secretary and Joseph Lemieux, 524 S. E. Weimar, treasurer.

We'll make it a point to report on current Sly Fox activities for the members and any interested parties who may be looking for this type of group. Scheduled for the balance of January include a ski night at View Ridge Ski Area which features fun "under the lights". A 1-day trip is planned to Pine Mountain or Brule Mountain this Sunday, a wine party is to be held Jan. 20, a weekend trip is planned to Indianhead Mountain in Michigan's UP Jan. 22-24 and a regular meeting is set for Jan. 27.

Here's a suggestion for those skiers who don't desire the most challenging slopes but who want to "sking" (amalgamation of ski and swing) in true style take in the Playboy Club - Hotel ski area in Lake Geneva. This luxurious $14,000,000 resort offers the elite in recreation and includes a new ski slope, complete with bunnies, I'm told. And a new feature this season is their weekly ski show on Saturday evenings that involves a display of fireworks. Its called "Snowfire" and also features 30 skiers armed with torches and fireworks negotiating one of their six runs in a very colorful pattern. Leader of the effort is "Flaming Freddy" Bissig, former coach of the Spanish Olympic ski team and Playboy ski school director. Let it all hang out and take in this great show and facility. The resort is located two miles east of Lake Geneva.

With Mother Nature putting forth her strong winter wrath in the form of heavy snowfall, late, most accessible ski areas frequented by Fox Cities skiers offer excellent ski conditions this week.

On the local scene, View Ridge Ski Area is now open Thursday evenings starting at 7 p.m. for skiing and weekend days from noon to 4:30 p.m. Snow conditions there are excellent, as reported by hill operator George Kubisiak. We believe Calumet County Park ski area is also operating weekends with fine conditions.

Ski resorts in Michigan's Upper Peninsula all offer excellent reports, with bases ranging up to 30 inches and new snow accumulation up to 21 inches. The latter figure is offered by the Porcupine Mountain in Ontonagon. The other areas are: Big Powderhorn Mt., Indianhead Mt., Brule Mt., Pine Mt. and Brule Mountain.

In Wisconsin, the same excellent conditions prevail at Mt. Telemark in Cable, Nor-Ski Ridge in Fish Creek, Rib Mountain in Camp 10 near Rhinelander, Paul Bunyan in Lakewood and Whitecap near Hurley.

This is the time of year too when all should watch the highway conditions closely. Drive with care. The memories of a good ski are always better when you do.

Redlegs Pick Chris Charnish

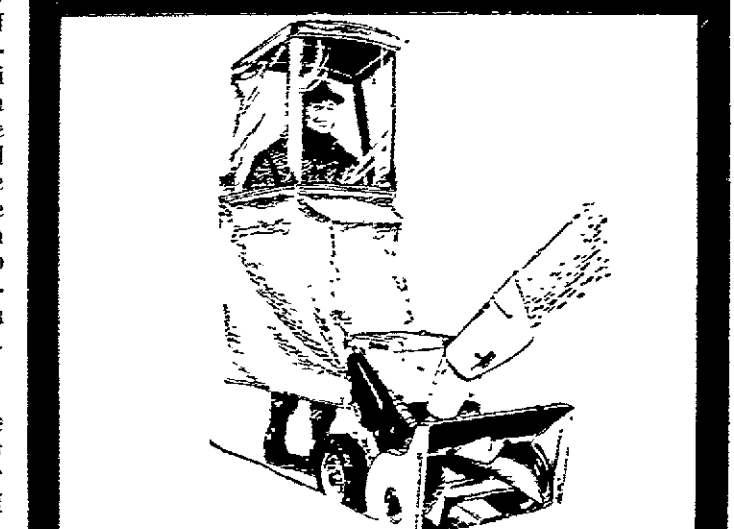

Total of Eight Players Taken by Brewers in Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Chris Charnish, most valuable football player in the Wisconsin State University Conference, was among Badger State athletes picked Wednesday for professional job offerings in the winter free-agent draft.

Charnish, of Milwaukee, was and outfielder for Platteville State when he wasn't a star quarterback for the Pioneers. He received a nod from the Cincinnati Redlegs for their Sioux Falls farm club.

The Milwaukee Brewers picked third baseman Richard Olive of Baltimore, Md.; Don Collins, a Georgia junior college pitcher; infielder Dean Wick from a Washington junior college; pitcher Doug David of Providence, R.I.; California infielder Richard Hance; Tom Lee Rosa, a junior college shortstop from Florida; Florida college outfielder John LiBrandi, and outfielder John Bush, another Floridian.

Wisconsin collegians picked include: Michael Baker of Whitewater, a University of Wisconsin player picked by the Kansas City Royals for their Omaha club; Harold R. Rasmussen, picked by Boston for Winterhaven, Fla.; Daniel H. Hinzman, picked by the Redlegs for Sioux Falls; Tom Seybold of Madison, by Kansas City.

Pitchers Lead Early Choices In Drafting

Phillies Pass Up Chance to Pick Fifth in 1st Round

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Bowie Kuhn opened Wednesday's annual winter free agent draft by reminding the participating clubs that the draft has paid off with major-league talent in the past.

"There were 22 players in major league line-ups last summer who were draft selections in the past two years," the commissioner said.

The Philadelphia Phillies couldn't have been very impressed.

The Phillies, who finished fifth in the National League's East Division last year, were scheduled to pick fifth in the draft's regular phase which selected players who had never been chosen before. When their turn came up, they passed.

"Frankly, there was no one available that interested us when our turn came up," a Phillies spokesman said.

"We had three names on our list," said Paul Owens, Philadelphia's farm director. "And all of them were picked before our turn came up."

One of the players the Phillies were interested in was third baseman John David Hilton of Pearland, Tex., chosen by San Diego as the No. 1 pick in the draft.

Pitchers were a major shopping area in the first round of the draft. Eight of the 23 players selected are hurlers.

After San Diego chose Hilton, the Chicago White Sox picked right-hander Larry O'Brien of Omaha, Neb., and Montreal followed by selecting John Scalia of Brentwood, N.Y. Kansas City chose catcher John Wathan of San Diego and after Philadelphia passed, Milwaukee selected left-hander Don Collins of Lyons, Ga.

A total of 127 players were selected in the regular phase of the draft before the clubs swung into the secondary phase, selecting players who had been picked before but returned to the pool of eligibles when they did not sign. Another 145 were picked there, bringing the total for the day to 272.

It was in the secondary phase that the Kansas City Royals chose Archie Manning, the University of Mississippi quarterback, for their Waterloo Class A farm team. Manning is a shortstop.

NEW YORK (AP) — Here are the first round selections in the regular phase of baseball's annual winter draft of free agents: San Diego—Third baseman John David Hilton, Pearland, Texas.

San Francisco—Catcher Edward Jordan, Van Nuys, Calif.

Set Hunter Safety Course At Armory

The Outagamie Conservation Club will again conduct a Wisconsin Hunter Safety Course, and young people in the area who are interested in hunting, and recreational shooting, are invited to enroll in the program which will be conducted at the National Guard Armory, 2801 W. Second street, beginning Monday.

Marv Hollfelder, 1671 W. Butte des Morts Beach Rd., Neenah, is the chief instructor. All instruction will be conducted by certified safety instructors.

Students desiring to enroll must be at least 12 years old by the date of the final lesson, scheduled for Feb. 22. There is no maximum age, although the course is designed primarily for young people up to 16, who have had little or no experience with firearms.

Advance registration may be completed at the National Guard Armory, with final registration and the first class set for 7 p.m., Monday. Two-hour classes will be held on Jan. 18, 25, Feb. 1, 8, 15, and 22.

Classes will start at 7 p.m. and end at 9 p.m. The registration fee of $2.50 covers all materials required. A parent or guardian is required to sign a youngster's registration card.

The course will be held to a minimum of 40 students and will be on a first-come basis.

Madelyn Frederick Hits 229

Joan Kolosso's 562 Leads Classic League

Joan Kolosso cracked a 562, Madelyn Frederick slammed a series and Pat Wojahn had a 229 game for top score in the 228 game to divide honors in the Tag-A-Long League at the 41 Women's Classic League at the Bowl. Lu Schlender hit 204, 41 Bowl Wednesday.

Pat also finished as runnerup in series with a 551 count while close behind were Evelyn Myers, and Bea Albrecht with 550 each. Evelyn had a 212 game with her series.

Other top scores from the Classic League included: Val Wendt 547, Marion Horn 543, Virginia Tegen 543, Judy Boeder 210-538, Marion Lappen 553, Kathy Sodermark 201-529, Clara Streck 202 and Rosie Eckes 205. Yvonne Olson fired a 210 game and 543 series to take individual honors in the Twin City Dolls League at the Twin City Bowl.

Rolls 541 Series
Julie Coenen cracked a 217 game and 541 series for leading scores in the Do-Nut and Coffee League at the Super Bowl Wednesday.

A 208 game by Shirley Hearden and a 536 series by Dorothy Fredericksen, including a 202 game, paced the Lucky Strike League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday. Joan Lemmers rolled a 200 game and 543 series to take individual honors in the Twin City Dolls League at the Twin City Bowl.

Mary Schmidt put together a 529 series to lead the way in the Four-for-Fun League at Hahn's Lanes Wednesday.

Black Hawks Win

Brothers Together In Mahovich Deal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Montreal Canadiens have become the fifth National Hockey League club to display brotherly rivalry on the ice this season with the acquisition of star left wing Frank Mahovich.

They picked up the 14-year veteran from Detroit Wednesday, sending right wings Mickey Redmond and Bill Collins and left wing Guy Charron to the Red Wings.

Frank, 33, joins his 24-year-old brother, Pete, on the Canadiens and a scoring battle between them seems assured. The senior Mahovich with 14 goals and 16 assists, has accumulated 32 points, just one more than Pete.

Also with brother acts are Chicago with Bobby and Dennis Hull, California with Billy and Ernie Hicke, Philadelphia with Wayne and Larry Hillman and leading the parade with a trio, the St. Louis Blues with Bill, Bob and Barclay Player.

On Different Clubs

Three more sets of brothers are currently in action in the NHL—but on different teams. Phil Esposito is slamming home goals for Boston while brother Tony is stopping them from going into Chicago's net. Wayne

Maki is on Chicago while Chicago plays for Vancouver and California has Dennis Hextall while Bryan plays for Pittsburgh.

Chicago's dynamic duo were the most effective in Wednesday night's games. Dennis Hull slammed home one goal and, big brother Bobby set up another as the Black Hawks bounced Buffalo 4-2. In other NHL action, Pittsburgh topped Los Angeles 4-2 and Toronto played California to a 1-1 tie.

Buffalo Leads

Dennis' goal was sandwiched between a pair of Buffalo tallies that gave the Sabres a first-period lead. But Pat Stapleton's goal on a play started by Bobby early in the second session tied it and Pit Martin connected for the winner late in the period.

Ron Schock was Pittsburgh's playmaker, setting up second-period goals by veterans Dean Prentice and Andy Bathgate within a 90-second span. Greg Polis and Nick Harbaruk also scored for the Penguins.

Friday's Schedule:
West De Pere at De Pere
Pulaski at Oconto
Ashwaubenon at Oconto Falls
Seymour at Bay Port

Runnerup, Clintonville, (6-2) will sit by this weekend with hopes for an upset. Probably most of the Trunkers will be sitting in the Oconto High School gymnasium.

Oconto (4-3) entertains first place Pulaski (7-0) in the Key Bay Conference contest. Other games Friday have West De Pere (5-2) facing De Pere (4-3) Ashwaubenon (1-6) venturing to Oconto Falls (1-6), and Seymour (2-5) traveling to Bay Port (2-5).

De Pere is the host to West De Pere, but the contest has been rescheduled for the Brown County Arena because of the anticipated large turnout. The Redbirds are seeking to end a 3-season victory streak by the Phantoms.

Seymour, which stumbled through the early season, has won two in a row and its momentum may give it the edge over Bay Port.

Oconto has the tough scorer to lead the way past Pulaski, but the Raiders can be in the driver's seat if they halt Mike 529 series to lead the way in the slated for tonight. The first part of the archery event was held Wednesday night.

debauch against Neenah last time out
Oshkosh centers its attack around a hot-shooting Craig Whitney, whose 23-point average (18.0), Pete Haas (15.2) and heads all league scorers.
Don Werner (14.6).
Kaukauna pins its hopes high-the return of Jeff Pommeren-scoring Leon Franzke and Aling, who collected 20 points Borchardt, firing away at 22.4 against Kimberly. Sophomore and 15.4 clips, respectively. The Paul Wisniewski is adding 11.8 Ghosts will be trying to shrug points per game and is the off the effects of their 86-55 FVA's top rebounder with 62.

LITTLE CHUTE — Two more candidates took out nomination papers for village trustee, bringing to five the number seeking the three posts to be filled, according to Clerk Gerald Loy. New candidates are James Vanderloop Sr., incumbents, and Stoffel, 408 W. Main St., a life insurance salesman and owner is not seeking re-election.

of a printing business, and Martin T. Jansen, 1017 N. Buchanan St., a partner in a construction firm. Both are seeking village office for the first time. Jansen has served as Legion commander on the local, county and state levels.

Curbs Predicted on Snowmobile Use

Sharp restrictions in snowmobile use within the next six months were predicted Tuesday by Supv. Ervin Conradt, Shiocton. Conradt, who also is state representative from Outagamie County's 3rd District, made the prediction in response to a park committee request before the county board for assistance from the county highway committee, of which Conradt is chairman, in the establishment of snowmobile trails in the county.

Conradt said restrictive legislation is being drafted which he was supporting. Among restrictions on snowmobiles he said would probably be incorporated in the bill would be the prohibition of crossing any state highway, requiring the operator to possess a valid drivers license and prohibiting the use of back slopes of highway rights-of-way for snowmobile operation.

Presently snowmobiles are prohibited from crossing four-lane highways and cannot operate on any highway or street and there are no license requirements for operators.

Supv. Nick Karras, Appleton, chairman of the parks committee, said they have had many requests for establishment of snowmobile trails in the county. The only county trail now is at Plamann Park and that is overcrowded, Karras said. He said there was 100 per cent state funding for trails established on state or county owned land.

His original request had been for the highway committee to establish a trail from Appleton to Plamann Park but then modified it to seek only an inventory of county-owned rights-of-way where a trail could be established.

Supv. George Kroes, Vandenberg, a member of the highway committee, charged it was "ridiculous" for the county to build a trail. "You can't make them (snowmobiles) use the settleable solids reduced trail," he said. He contended it worked better if the snowmobile clubs established their own trails. He said the Council of Governments (COG) had established a trail along Appleton Creek to the Brown County line which is heavily used and doesn't involve the highway rights-of-way.

Conradt said he did not have any objection to furnishing the parks committee with an inventory of county right-of-ways but added, "don't ask the highway committee to draw up any trails. We don't want the responsibility."

In a related measure, the board approved establishing the parks committee as the liaison between local communities in the county and the Department of Natural Resources for establishing priorities on LAWCON and ORAP aids. Karras said the committee would assist in informing local communities of available funds and would act as intermediary between the communities and state if project priorities had to be established.

Kaukauna Water Treatment Plant Reports on Year

KAUKAUNA — A total of 446,512,000 gallons of water, with 81,077,000 gallons estimated as surface water, was treated at the waste treatment plant in 1970, according to the annual report of Supt. Albert J. Winter.

Total sewage to plant was listed at 365,435,000 gallons, of which 52,329,750 gallons was metered from Combined Locks. Daily flow to plant was set at 1,223,370 gallons of which 222,100 is estimated to be surface water.

The report showed 92 per cent of biochemical oxygen demand was reduced through the plant, 98 per cent of suspended solids reduced and 99 per cent of settleable solids reduced

18-Year-Old Gets 2 Years' Probation

Two years' probation was prescribed Wednesday for an 18-year-old rural Appleton youth convicted of four counts of burglary.

In deciding the case of Donald Gerhartz, route 4, Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller stayed a one-year term to the Green Bay Reformatory. Gerhartz entered no-contest pleas to all the counts.

Appleton and Kimberly police alleged burglaries in their communities during May, June and July of last year. City detectives charged that on May 31 and July 14, respectively, Gerhartz burglarized the Owen's Service Station, 2040 E. Newberry St., and the Johnson Elementary School, 2525 E. Forest St.

Kimberly police lodged charges of burglary for two break-ins at the Kimberly High School on the July date and June 16 or 17.

About $200 worth of merchandise was missing at the service station, detectives said. Between $75 and $100 worth of tools were gone from Kimberly High School after the first burglary there. A detective noted that most of the stolen property, except for three fire extinguishers taken after the second break-in, have been recovered.

The cases of two minors, who allegedly participated in the some of the incidents, have been referred to juvenile authorities. Gerhartz also must

9 Die in Louisville Fire

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A fire in a suburban senior citizens home killed nine residents early today and injured 48 other persons, authorities reported.

"I think it was difficult for some of them to realize it was a real thing," said Miss Odie Branstetter, a survivor of the blaze at Westminster Terrace Presbyterian Home for Senior Citizens.

She said: "We kept saying, 'Is this for real?' I could hear the flames ... not the flames but the girder seemed to be popping and walls popping. As soon as I woke up I thought, 'Oh, my land.' There was heat, too. I could feel the heat."

The dead were identified at two hospitals as Alma Swain, 81; Clara Egbert, 86; Edith Johnson, 78; Nora Strong, 93; Frank Schobe, 80; Effie Bates, 79; Mary Smith, 83; Ida Feiera-bend, 83; and Leon Grubbs, 81. Grubbs was the father of Kentucky Commerce Commissioner Paul Grubbs.

Home Inspected
In Frankfort, the state Fire Marshal's office said the home was inspected last July 14 and given a satisfactory rating for fire safety, the same rating it had been given at each inspection since it was established in 1966.

The blaze began about 2:15 a.m. EST, and was discovered by the night nurse, Mrs. Helen Turner.

The building, southeast of Louisville, was evacuated and the uninjured residents were taken to hospitals, a nearby church and neighboring residences.

Seven were pronounced dead at one hospital and two at another. Of the injured, four were listed in critical condition.

Mrs. Turner said she heard a crackling sound, went to investigate and saw smoke pouring out of the chapel area. She alerted the fire department, then went to the home's infirmary and shut the room's doors.

Automatic Alarm
A few minutes later the automatic fire alarm went off. The alarm also closed inside central hall doors, closing of the central stairs and elevators. Many residents left down stairs at each end of the building, which has a capacity of 91 occupants.

Garland Miller, chief of the Buchel Fire Department, said "we had to bring 50 out through the windows. Not one of them panicked," he added. "To my knowledge no one was burned in the fire. Those who died were overcome by smoke."

One resident, Mrs. Florence Peper said, "I had been reading and thought I would eat a cracker before going to bed. I had just finished when I heard the alarm. I put on my coat and went out down into the hall."

The blaze apparently started in the chapel on the first floor, officials said. The dining room and chapel were destroyed by the blaze but there was little noticeable fire damage in the remainder of the building, most of which is living quarters. There are no resident apartments on the first floor.

Moving Equipment
As firemen began moving equipment out, the first floor was a mass of charred and fallen plaster, burned furnishings and water. Water dripped from the ceiling.

Firemen said that when they arrived, flames were shooting out the first floor windows and up over the balconies on the second floor.

All rooms have full length windows with a sliding door starting to rain. They (the firemen) put a tarpaulin over us and everyone who passed piled on another blanket, so that I was quite well covered by the time they put us in a car to bring us to the church."

Carried Out
"Pretty soon, a nice fireman came up and said, 'You shouldn't be out here.' He asked me, 'How much do you weigh?' I told him and he said he just wanted to know if he would be able to carry me downstairs by himself."

"We went down to the stairway at the end of the hall and the fireman helped me down," she said. "I got up and she had no injuries."

Mrs. Young said "we got out side and by this time it was raining. They (the firemen) put a tarpaulin over us and everyone who passed piled on another blanket, so that I was quite well covered by the time they put us in a car to bring us to the church."

The retirement home was opened in October 1966 and cost $1.5 million, said Dale H. Fisher, president of the board of trustees.

Fisher emphasized it is not a nursing home, that the residents must be able to care for themselves. The minimum age for residence is 65; the average age of those living there is 79.

Brazilians Flown to Chile

Leftists Free, Welcome Waits Bucher

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Buckets of champagne and a welcome-home banquet today awaited Giovanni Bucher, the Swiss ambassador kidnapped by terrorists 39 days ago and ransom by the Brazilian government with the flight of 70 Brazilian prisoners to political asylum in Chile.

The ambassador's butler began making plans for the banquet after a Varig Airlines Boeing 707 took off at midnight for Santiago carrying the 70 prisoners, the largest number ever released as ransom in a political kidnapping.

The jetliner arrived at Santiago's Pudahuel International Airport at 4:22 a.m. A Chilean Foreign Ministry official said Bucher would be released as soon as news agency photographs of the arriving prisoners reached Brazil.

Among the welcome was several wives of prisoners. One said she had not seen her husband in two years.

Some prisoners were laughing and some were flashing the "V" sign as they stepped off the plane.

Two buses took the prisoners to a police barracks in Santiago where they were to remain for the day.

Brazilian President Emilio Garrastazu Medici signed a decree exiling the prisoners forever as "dangerous to national security."

Bucher, 57, was the fourth diplomat kidnapped in Brazil in two years.

U.S. Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick was the first victim, on Sept. 4, 1969. He was released 78 hours later in exchange for 15 prisoners flown to asylum in Mexico. The other two, Japanese Consul Nobuo Okuchi and West German Ambassador Ehrenfried von Helleben, were held five days each before prisoners were released as ransom.

A leftist group called the Popular Revolutionary Vanguard kidnapped Bucher on Dec. 7 and demanded that 70 convicts it considered political prisoners be flown to Chile or elsewhere, that be a revolutionary manifesto published, and that free passage be given on Rio's commuter trains during negotiations. The government denied the latter two demands and rejected parts of three lists of prisoners submitted by the kidnappers before agreement was reached.

One of the prisoners freed was Nancy Mangabeira Unger, a Brazilian-American who lived in New York until she was 12. She was arrested last July and charged with belonging to a group that planned to kidnap an American diplomat. She was also accused of shooting a policeman while resisting arrest and faced charges of taking part in several bank robberies. She is the daughter of an American father and granddaughter of the late Otavio Mangabeira, who was a Brazilian senator.

Some of the released prisoners were expected to ask for asylum in Chile, which now has a Marxist president, Salvador Allende. Sources in the Chilean Foreign Ministry said the Cuban and Italian embassies had offered asylum to any who wished to go to their countries.

The sources added that Chilean officials had also asked Algerian diplomats about asylum for some of the prisoners in Algeria but no reply had been received.

Four Caught Breaking Into Parliament

LONDON (AP) — Police captured four men trying to break into the House of Commons today while Scotland Yard continued its hunt for extremists who bombed the home of Employment Minister Robert Carr.

Aided by tracker dogs, 39 policemen searched Westminster Palace, the home of Parliament, after the arrests. They found glass-cutting equipment.

A custodian first spotted two men at the foot of Big Ben, the landmark timepiece that booms the hours above Parliament. He grappled with the pair while a third man dived through a window into a storeroom.

A House of Commons police officer joined the struggle. Police found the third man, dazed, in the storeroom and later arrested a fourth man on the other side of the Thames after he made off in a car.

The police threw a cordon around Parliament Square while police launches sped along the banks of the Thames.

There was no indication of any connection between the attempt to break into the House of Commons and the Carr bombing.

Court Overturns Smut Mail Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court unanimously struck down a law, dating back to 1890, that gave the post office power to block or detain mail to dealers in "obscene" materials.

The court's opinion, by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., said the authority, dating back to 1890, is a form of censorship forbidden by the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Agreeing with federal district courts in California and Georgia, the high court invalidated two laws.

Under one, dating back to 1890, the Postmaster General could have letters stamped "unlawful" and returned to the senders if an administrative officer decided the intended recipient was obtaining money through the mail for obscene or indecent articles or devices.

Under the second law, enacted in 1960, the Postmaster General had the power to obtain a court order permitting him to detain mail to a dealer the government decided traffics in obscenity.

Free Speech
Quoting Oliver Wendell Holmes, the late justice who was one of the most eloquent civil libertarians in the nation's history, Brennan wrote: "The United States may give up the Post Office when it sees fit, but while it carries it on the use of the mails is almost as much a part of free speech as the right to use our tongues."

The heart of Brennan's opinion was that the burden should be on the government rather than on a dealer to prove materials moving through the mails are obscene. The justice said the two laws are unconstitutional because they put this burden on the dealer and hold up his mail unless he can get clearance.

Secondly, Brennan said the administrative process involved is too slow to be constitutional. He cited a 1965 ruling that upset Maryland's system for censoring movies.

The Nixon administration argued strenuously for retention of the laws. Peter L. Strauss of the U.S. Solicitor General's office said in arguing for the laws before the court Nov. 10 the procedure was similar to government interception of fraudulent advertising.

Bethlehem Undeterred By Threats
Steel Prices Will Be Increased, Despite Quotas

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — The Bethlehem Steel Co. says it will go ahead with plans to boost prices of steel used in construction work and shipbuilding despite an indication from President Nixon that he might raise quotas on imported steel if the increases are implemented.

A statement released Wednesday also said the Nixon administration knew of the proposed increases in advance. The company said the administration gave no indication it "would react as strongly as it did."

The rate changes on four major types of steel, announced Monday, amount to boosts of 11 to 13 per cent. They are to take effect March 1. Bethlehem is the nation's second largest steel producer. The items involved account for one-sixth of the industry's total output.

Met McCracken
The company said Stewart S. Cort, Bethlehem chairman, met prior to the hike announcement with Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Cort advised McCracken of the pending announcement and nothing in the conversation suggested the administration would react as it did, the statement said.

"The decision to increase prices was a business judgment," it continued, "and Bethlehem has no plans to rescind."

At the Western White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren confirmed that McCracken and Cort met Monday and that Cort informed McCracken of the company's intention to announce higher prices.

Nixon Concerned
Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Zeigler, said Tuesday Nixon was "deeply concerned" by Bethlehem's action.

The boosts raise the price of sheet piling from $7.60 per hundred pounds to $8.30; H-piling and structural shapes from $6.90 to $7.70, and carbon plates from $6.80 to $7.65. The material is widely used in all phases of construction.

So far only a small producer, Lukens Steel Co. of Coatesville, Pa., has followed Bethlehem's rates change. The Lukens' decision was made before the White House comment.

The nation's largest producer, U.S. Steel has said it was studying the matter.

Explosion Rips Baraboo's Army Ammunition Plant

BARABOO, Wis. (AP) — An explosion and fire destroyed a powder processing building at the Army's Badger Ammunition Plant, claiming the life of an employee Wednesday.

The former World War II ordnance facility was the target of vandals a year ago during a series of antiwar incidents, but Army officials said there was no immediate reason to believe Wednesday's blast was not simply an industrial accident.

Firefighters brought the blaze under control three hours after the explosion discovered the body of Richard D. Hardy, 32, of Reedsburg, who had been working in the small frame building. There were no other injuries reported.

It was one of several isolated structures involved in making small-arms ammunition powder. Damage was estimated at $347,000, but officials said the figure includes the value of the building when it was erected in 1954.

John Troyer, civilian aide to the plant's Army commander, said investigators were initially ruling out sabotage as a cause of the blast.

"The explosion occurred too far inside the building, and no one could have possibly gone in that far without detection," Troyer said.

Unexploded glass jars containing explosive powder were discovered in January, 1970, at the plant northwest of Madison during a series of firebomb incidents at Madison's University of Wisconsin campus. Officials said the jars were dropped from a stolen airplane.

Government Charges
Karleton Armstrong, 23, and his teen-age brother Dwight, of Madison, were indicted Sept. 15 by the government on charges of attempting to damage the plant.

They had been charged earlier along with former UW students David Fine and Leo Burt, with an Aug. 24 UW bombing that destroyed a research laboratory and killed a student. All four were named to the FBI's list of most-wanted fugitives, and remain at large.

Karleton Armstrong is also named in state warrants concerning UW firebomb incidents, and concerning an attempt a year ago to damage a power transmission station which provides electricity to the Badger plant.

Witnesses described Wednesday's explosion as a short series of blasts. Officials said the building's operation involved a salt-coating and glazing process in manufacture of pelletized powder.

There was little threat of flames spreading, they said, because the plant's buildings are not close together.

Army investigators were to try to pin down a cause of the blast today.

Clintonville School Board Gets Report on Insurance

CLINTONVILLE — Supt. V. J. Wadleigh reported on the status of the school district's insurance program Tuesday night at the meeting of the board of education.

He said the general consensus was that half of the architects' fees should be included in the valuation updating was discussed. Nichols Pushes for Wastewater System

NICHOLS — The village board has unanimously adopted a preliminary resolution declaring its intent to "exercise special assessment police powers" under the Wisconsin Statutes, to erect a new wastewater collection and treatment system within the village.

The proposed public improvement will include construction of laterals from the sewer main in the street to connect with all existing buildings as well as erection of a mechanical sewer treatment plant and the lane of sewage laterals along every street and into every home in the village.

The existing sewage laterals will be converted into storm sewer use. Lester Boman, village president, explained that the current project cost estimate will be approximately $618,904. Village Atty. Gerald D. Lange stated that the total cost of the project would be paid as follows:

- Special Assessment: — $0.170
- Revenue bonds — $2,563;
- cash on hand by trust fund loan — $6,390;
- state aid — $9,251; and

Annual Meeting Of Congregation Is Scheduled

CLINTONVILLE — The annual congregational meeting of Christ Congregational Church will begin with a 6 p.m. dinner Monday in the church dining room.

Robert Billings, moderator, will preside at the business meeting when reports will be given from officers and committee chairmen, the 1971 budget will be adopted, and officers will be elected.

A panel presentation of "What Will Happen to the Church in the Seventies?" will conclude the meeting.

Tax Collection Starts at Amherst

AMHERST — Over 400 tax memorandums were mailed Saturday to 246 taxpayers in the Village of Amherst. Taxes can be paid Jan. 27 and February 17 and 24, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the International Bank, Amherst, or by mail to Joan Johnson, village treasurer.

tion of a four-school cooperative vocational education plan was presented.

CEA No. 8 has requested a preliminary indication of shared services desired for 1971-72. This year the district has had a psychologist for 60 days, a speech correctionist and a full-time remedial-reading teacher. Principal Reed Newton suggested that another part-time remedial-reading teacher would be desirable.

Ways in which teachers can comply with the requirements of the agreement between the Clintonville Education Association (CEA) and the board of education which calls for 80 hours of curriculum work over a five-year period were discussed. Wadleigh will pursue this subject further and present recommendations at the next meeting.

Members were asked to make their reservations immediately if they plan to attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards (WASB) in Milwaukee on Jan. 27-29.

A WASB Regional Drive-In conference will be at Oshkosh on Feb. 3.

On Feb. 15, there will be a CESA No. 8 school board-administrators meeting at the Embassy Motor Lodge, Appleton, at which Henry Weinlich, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Education Association, will speak.

Church Program To Feature Arts

At Waupaca Rusch Resignation Okayed

WAUPACA — The resignation of Otto Rusch, Jr., as member of the board of education, was approved by the board at its meeting this week. He has been a member of the board's negotiating team.

The post will be filled in the April election.

Three other resignations were approved by the board. They are: Joseph S. Lekan, head of the high school mathematics department; Mrs. Elvira Bruley, secretary to the board of education; and Mrs. Margaret Radtke, fifth grade teacher at the Gards Corner School.

Lekan has been a teacher in the Waupaca Unified School District since 1966. He has taken over the position with the John A. Black Creek, Wis. received the order for two bus bodies, total purchase price $7,036.

Mrs. Bruley will be a part-time employee. She will be succeeded by Miss Mary Barnhart. The board also approved a half time secretarial position for the administrative office. The subject to change as needed and person employed will work from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. five days a week.

It was announced that Jan. 22 will be a previously designated as a work day for teachers following school day for second term examinations on Jan. 20 and 21. It will make up one of the two days which have been lost in this school year when schools were closed because of heavy snow.

The February school board meeting has been changed from Feb. 9 to Feb. 16. The North Central Association will have its evaluation team in the district Feb. 9 through 11 and the board's meeting date was changed to Feb. 11. The evaluation meetings will be held at the Pfister Hotel. Lamb is president of the Portage County Fair Association.

Annual Meeting

Waupaca C of C Schedules Dinner

WAUPACA — Plans are complete for the annual dinner meeting Wednesday of the Waupaca Chamber of Commerce. The board includes Niemuth, Eugene Spindt, vice president; Robert L. Niemuth, treasurer; president and C. Kenneth Peterson, committee chairman, announced today.

The business meeting starts at 6 p.m. and the banquet at 7 p.m., at the Waupaca Country Club.

Len A. Britelli, superintendent of the Waupaca Unified School District will be speaker. "This will be a splendid opportunity to meet and hear Mr. Britelli and his talk should be of interest to all of us," Niemuth said.

The one-year terms of board members Melvin Mather, Merle Pennebecker and Earl I. Larson expire and these will be filled at the annual meeting. The board of directors will elect officers for 1971 from the 17-member board. Niemuth will preside over the annual meeting, the election and the banquet.

As a part of the banquet program, a citation will be given the Waupaca Jayettes for their cooperation in the Welcome Wagon program. Rev. Donald Bainski, Catholic chaplain at the Grand Army Home for Veterans, King, will pronounce the invocation and the benediction.

Wives and guests are invited. Tickets are $4.75 per person and may be obtained from any member of the board of directors, at the Step-In-Shoe Store, the Farmers State Bank and the First National Bank.

Assisting with arrangements are Col. LeRoy N. Danielson, secretary, and Col. G. H. Storck, Sr., secretary emeritus. The Chamber of Commerce includes Niemuth, Eugene Spindt, vice president; Robert L. Niemuth, treasurer; president and C. Kenneth Peterson, committee chairman, announced today.

Junior Teams Take 2 of 3

MARION — The Marion High School freshmen and grade school basketball teams won two and lost one in a triple-header here Tuesday evening against Manawa.

The opener saw the seventh grade team down Manawa, 27-9, to up their season record to 3-1. Kurt Krueger paced Marion with 14 points, Dave Asenbrenner added 7. Tom Lorrigh 4 and Kelly Klaeser 2. The team led, 11-5, at halftime. Coach is Fred Kovach.

The Wildcats won their fifth straight without a loss by dumping Manawa, 40-24. They jumped off to a big 25-10 halftime lead. Coach is Tony Nelson. Rusty Schider and Mark Meyer paced Marion with 20 and 15 points respectively. Steve Craig and Jeff Dunnahoo each had 6 for the losers.

The freshmen went down to their fifth defeat in a row losing, 46-16. They trailed 27-4, at halftime, they just couldn't seem to hit that basket. Mark Oestreich led all scorers with 14 points for Manawa. Tim Dieck had 4 for Marion. Coach is Rick Reiss.

The three teams will host Shiocton Monday at 5:30 p.m.

Girl Scouts Oppose Landfill

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Some 69 Girl Scouts arrived here at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to climax a rather dreary daylong proceeding in the Kaukauna sanitary landfill controversy.

They came with the plea that the operation would ruin a highly desirable piece of nature, and would depreciate the esthetic and practical value of their adjacent camp property.

Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts, would have been proud.

Held in the Brown County Courthouse Annex, the session Tuesday was in continuation of a hearing started in November before the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

City Testimony
Except for the Girl Scouts from the Fox River Valley Council, Tuesday was spent taking testimony from Robert L. Natrop, Kaukauna's director of public works. He maintained that the proposed landfill would not be undesirable, and stressed that it eventually would become a public park.

"Finding suitable available sites for solid waste disposal is a big problem," Natrop observed.

It was no demonstration, the prevailing emotion of the session, that the young ladies from Kaukauna, Neenah, Appleton, Clintonville and other communities brought to the hearing. They were orderly, attentive, and very pretty in their uniforms or school clothes.

Four girls and one leader were sworn in as witnesses by Edward Maw DNR hearing examiner. Miss Priscilla MacDougall, intervener for the attorney generals office, did the questioning.

Kathy Riemen, 15, of Appleton, explained that the wooded ravine which is part of the area Kaukauna wants to use for waste disposal has been used by the Girl Scouts for nature study and recreation. A small stream enhances its value. The Camp Winnecomac property which adjoins she said, is relatively flat land and does not afford such unique opportunities.

"I found a possum once, and we see deer and rabbit tracks, woodpecker holes and pine trees, and there are beautiful flowers like the trillium," she said.

Miss MacDougall asked how she felt about the threatened development.

"I wouldn't want to see a landfill site there," Kathy replied.

Conservation Creed

Similar comments and concerns were voiced by Barb Fellers, 17, of Neenah; Karen Krueger, 13, of Clintonville, and Patricia Gerow, 13, of Kaukauna.

Mrs. Susanne Oberhauser, a Girl Scout leader in Clintonville, supported the girls' high opinion of the area. The camp program would suffer great damage, she asserted, if the landfill project isn't stopped.

There being no objection from any of the principals, the session ended just before 6 o'clock by the 60-plus girls rising and reciting the Conservation Creed.

The hearing was convened Nov. 18 by the DNR under the six-citizen complaint procedure of the Wisconsin Water Resources Act. Mrs. Lloyd Williams, Appleton, is leader of the complainants.

Natrop was put on the stand by Don Green, Kaukauna city attorney, and was cross-examined by Peter Nelson, Appleton, wastes.

attorney for the six complainants. A registered professional engineer, he formerly was superintendent of street construction for the City of Green Bay.

Kaukauna has been using a disposal site in the neighboring Town of Buchanan, Natrop explained, but town officials served notice in September, 1969, of intention to terminate the permit. Since then, disposal operations have been handled by contractor James Lehrner of Kaukauna.

15 Sites

Natrop told of the search for a new site. It has been a frustrating experience. Some possible sites adjoining the city limits, which would permit annexation, are not for sale or are not feasible for various reasons. In other cases, where annexation is not possible, town officials don't want Kaukauna's wastes.

Regional or sub-regional operations with neighboring communities also were investigated. The search involved a total of 15 prospective sites.

"We also investigated pulverizing and baling operations," Natrop added. "We found the cost too high at this time, and such operations still would require some landfill."

The site finally obtained is on the southeast side of the city. Since it adjoined the city limits, it was available for annexation. Amounting to 68.79 acres, it was acquired for $65,000.

Natrop said 22.64 acres are classified as agricultural land, with the remaining 46.15 acres wooded.

"It is proposed to retain 16 acres in woods, and to use the rest of the land for landfill," he stated.

On the basis of present needs and disposal technology, the tract will be adequate for about 30 years, Natrop estimated. He said it is the intention to sow grass and plant trees as the area is filled, so that eventually the entire tract will become a park.

The site has been approved for landfill by the Department of Natural Resources.

Nelson, on cross-examination, questioned Natrop at length about the map that accompanied the proposal submitted to the state agency. He noted that the area which is the Girl Scout camp property was labeled as "vacant."

Natrop said the intention was to show that the area was not being used for agricultural or residential purposes. He said he was aware that it was the site of "a lodge and sheds of some sort," and that his own children had gone to the camp.

Thilmany Waste

Much of the questioning involved the storm sewer which would be installed in the ravine to carry water from the higher ground. Natrop asserted that it would cause no pollution problem, and that there was very little possibility of the sewer collapsing with resultant flooding.

The Thilmany Paper Co. would provide well over half of the wastes for the operation. At present the plant operates its own landfill site on a tract adjoining the city's proposed site. This land also will be developed into a park, it has been reported.

Estimates of the disposal volumes made by Natrop included 6,500 tons annually from residential pickups, 12,450 tons from Thilmany, and 1,220 tons of miscellaneous material from six other industrial firms.

Cancer Information Meeting Scheduled

KING — A series of meetings, designed to educate people to the causes, discoveries and hazards of cancer, have been scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Grand Army Home for Veterans.

John Holzman, chairman of the educational committee of the American Cancer Society, will preside at all meetings and "Journey Into Darkness" will be shown at each session. Dr. H. J. McGinnis, physician at the GAH will be on the program.

"Educating the public to the causes of and cures for cancer, and bringing them up to date on research, is a 365 day program of the American Cancer Society," the Rev. Edmund R. Webster, Waupaca, president of the Waupaca County Unit of ACS, said today.

"Every man and woman owes it to himself and family to keep up to date on the medical progress which has been made and drivers who want to refresh their skills may again enroll in a special adult training program offered at the senior high school. The program will consist of six evening lessons of two hours each, with the first lesson to be held from 7 to 9 p.m., Jan. 25.

Adult Driver Training Is Scheduled at New London

Sessions are conducted in the school district's driver education simulator. The machine presents the student driver with variety of traffic conditions and situations, allowing him to respond at his own console, just as though he were behind the wheel.

A computer printout gives each an evaluation of his performance. This allows him to review mistakes and to correct weak points.

Persons wishing to enroll in the course can call the high school business office from Jan. 18-20.

In the first series taught to adult drivers, 48 persons participated in four sessions. They have completed the classroom portion of the course and are now either taking behind-the-wheel instruction or preparing to take their examination.

Two hours of behind-the-wheel driving are included in the program along with observation while others drive the grade.

If a student has a particular problem or difficulty, he will receive additional assistance.

Purpose of the instruction is twofold: to make each a good and careful driver, and to assist him in passing the state exam to obtain a license.

Teacher Trade Discussed by School Board

NEW LONDON — Board of education members Monday night heard a report from a meeting of various school administrators concerning the proposed coordinated curriculum program.

The idea of the program is to allow the exchange of various teachers between schools in Hortonville, Shocton and Clintonville. Its enactment, however, awaits further study.

The board hired two new teachers to begin the semester. Lee Gehlke, a graduate of Stout State University and a native of Mondovi, will teach industrial arts at the junior high school. Jacquelin Jones, a Luther College graduate and resident of Dodgeville, will teach fifth grade.

Waupaca Pupils Get Brochures On Flag Display

WAUPACA — During half-time Friday at the Waupaca-New London basketball game there will be a presentation of brochures on "How to display and respect the flag of the United States."

The Waupaca School District is receiving brochures for each class room in the school district as a part of the Americanism program of Shipley-Robinson-Moen Post No. 161, American Legion, King, Layner Moen, Legion post commander, and Clarence Riddle, principal of Waupaca High School, have planned the presentation. Representatives of the senior and junior high school classes will participate. Special guests will be Chief Fred Dodson, of the Navy Recruiting Office, Appleton, which has made the brochures available.

Military Surveillance of Civilians

It has not been proven that the United States Army has sent army officials to conduct surveillances upon some 800 Illinois citizens including such political figures as the new senator from Illinois, Adlai Stevenson III, and Representative Abner Mikva. Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird has wisely ordered a thorough investigation of the charges made by a man who claimed he had such an assignment.

Whether there is truth in the charges or not, the dangers of such a type of investigation should be made clear. As Representative Mikva pointed out in a Congressional speech, they include a wide variety of threats.

First, even the hint of such surveillance is likely to discourage at least the timid from openly opposing American policies with which they disagree. This in itself is contrary to American tradition and our defenses of a free society — something which incidentally is a primary responsibility of the United States military. Secondly, the fear of such probing could well influence the decisions of public officials who don't want to be charged in public with being un-American or some such thing.

Congressman Mikva also said that "covert military surveillance ... activities — if they go too long undiscovered and unchallenged — may actually convince a small handful of military personnel that their information gives them the power and the right to control civilian government."

This seems rather farfetched and yet we have still to learn exactly why and how we became involved in that disastrous war in Vietnam. It was military considerations that persuaded President Nixon to send troops into Cambodia when he obviously had an appalling lack of knowledge upon the effect in the United States. It appears to be military considerations alone that prompted new bombing raids, the covert activities in Laos and Cambodia and perhaps even the talks at Paris. In an active war this may be reasonable. But it in no way rationalizes investigations of civilians especially when decisions to do so are made on lower levels of command.

In past years we have been inclined to discount that alleged "climate of fear" that was supposed to permeate the so-called Joe McCarthy era. We rather agreed with former President Harry Truman that those who can't stand the heat ought to get out of the kitchen.

But military surveillance, combined with all the numbers that now identify us and computer systems that are far from accurate, is something else again.

We'd like to know about all this, Secretary Laird. Is Big Brother watching. And it isn't even 1964!

Education and Parents

Educational motivation is a vital ingredient of the learning process, an ingredient becoming increasingly important in a period of educational innovations.

Persons who aren't aware of the changes in the educator and the potentially educated might wonder about new systems and their achievements. Some parents of students at Patrick Henry High School in San Diego, Calif., have raised questions because the institution's experimental setup is designed for students, not teachers.

Students receive learning packets from teachers, outlining work expected of them to receive credit for the course.

They proceed at their own rate and are tested when they are ready. There is a limit to their freedom, however.

No "F's" are given, but a no-credit rating is handed out for unsatisfactory work, and such a grade in courses required for graduation means taking the course again. Tutorial help is available for students with problems.

"This is not my idea of going to school," one father said. But if many students are educationally ahead of others following traditional methods, as the principal reports, then it might be some parents' images of education which need changing. There is the chance that sometimes father doesn't always know best.

Recycling One Waste—Newspapers

From THE WORLD-NEWS, Roanoke, Virginia

Newspapers have been in the forefront of the effort to awaken the public to the threats to the environment; and one of the main threats is the huge accumulation of waste in a so-called civilized modern society.

It has not been lost on many perceptive readers of American newspapers that newspapers themselves produce tons of "waste" in the form of discarded newspapers. We have been asked by one of those readers to give a report on the progress of the newspaper industry in cleaning its own nest. The following is based mainly on information supplied by Newsprint Facts, published by the Newsprint Information Committee and subsidized by eight major newsprint producers.

The daily paper, in bundles or crumpled masses, makes up about 7 per cent of all domestic waste, and about 4 per cent of all waste collections.

Of the nearly 10 million tons of newsprint used by newspapers and others during last year, 2.3 million tons were collected and reprocessed into cartons, boxes, construction paper, gypsum, wallboard, etc. De-inking plants received about 400,000 tons of it to be used again by newspapers.

The last mentioned process, by which paper is de-inked and pressed back into newsprint rolls, is perhaps the most promising in the industry's efforts to find ways to recycle its wastes. The problem currently is that such de-inking facilities are economically feasible and practicable only near ready sources of clean newsprint — near large cities where large newspapers can supply adequate quantities of press waste. The problems involved with collecting used newsprint on a house-to-house basis for reprocessing are considered too great at the present time.

But there is a distinct possibility that smaller newspapers can utilize regional de-inking facilities, provided the problem of collection and transportation can be solved.

There is another widespread notion about newsprint: that those 10 million tons of paper produced last year require the depletion of millions of precious trees, a basic resource that is hard to replace. That 10 million tons used 100 million trees, but the newsprint industry makes the point that far more than 100 million trees were produced by growth last year in the newsprint forests where companies maintain a steady cycle of use and planting so that their basic resource will not be used up. Newsprint trees are grown as an annual crop.

These facts do not constitute a vast apologia for the newspaper industry, but they do indicate that the industry, along with many other industries saddled with the problem of waste, are conscious of their obligations to the public. But it will require constant innovation to translate awareness into concrete methods for recycling the mountains of products of an affluent society.

'Good, Fat Contract' for Appleton

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Jan. 14, 1871.

Messrs. Parrish, Webb & Willy have just closed a contract with the "Standard Oil Company" of Cleveland, Ohio, to manufacture for them 12 million oil barrel staves and heading to match.

This home company has three years to fill the contract amounting to almost $400,000.

This contract will involve doubling the capacity of their present machinery, and if everything promises fair, the company will doubtlessly put up machinery on the line of the Green Bay & Lake Rail Road.

This contract will require 12,000,000 feet of logs and bolts, and will make a good additional market for that class of material.

This is another item for the prospectus of Appleton. The contractors, being gentlemen of great energy, will be able to fill this enormous bill and be ready for a duplicate of it when this order shall be completed.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Jan. 10, 1946.

Thomas Cahoe was the boxing instructor at the Salvation Army building. The class was organized by Salvation Army Adj. Alfred Gorten. Lessons were open to all boys interested with instruction in all weight classes.

Bruce Schumacher was elected president of the River Road Rockets 4-H Club. Donna Kaufman was named vice president; Harriet Peapen-burg, secretary-treasurer.

L. V. Forman was elected president of the Fox River Valley Alumni of Iowa State College at a dinner at the Paramount Club. H. P. Dixon was elected vice president and Miss Gladys Lynum, secretary-treasurer.

Educational Institutions Need Cash, Not Rare Books, Buildings

BY JOHN P. ROCHE

One who has been watching American private colleges and universities desperately struggling to make ends meet may suddenly see a cheering headline. "Fifteen Million Left to Yale." "Brandeis Gets Five Million Gift." or "Anonymous Donor Leaves Millions to —." Heaving a sigh of relief that there still are some dedicated alumni or philanthropists, he goes on to read the small print. And out comes the bad news: the money has been left for rare books, for building a chapel, for developing a radically innovative center of Polynesian Studies, or for an art museum.

Now, while nobody will deny that a campus needs an appropriate center for spiritual guidance, it is quite conceivable that the great chapel — for which some concerned or contrite alumnus has left $4 million — will shortly become the academic equivalent of Tintern Abbey. There it will be, standing in the ruins of a university that folded because no money was forthcoming to fix the roofs, pay the janitors, and maintain the faculty and administration.

Avoids Capital Gains Again, only a complete Philistine would argue that a university museum is totally superfluous. (Most of them are, in fact, pretty dreadful — full of third- and fourth-rate by-blows of the masters which have been given as tax dodges. It works this way: in 1926 someone bought a Van Gogh for $5,000. It was obviously drawn by the master when he was among the walking wounded, perhaps to subsidize a bit of the hair of the dog. But it is undeniably a Van Gogh. In 1960 the purchaser donated it to a university museum at a value of $100,000. This he deducts from his income tax; the hooker: no capital gains problem. In recent years the Internal Revenue Service has tightened up on assessed values, but it is still a neat gimmick.)

It is nice for young people to have a museum available, providing it is not the only institution on campus that has avoided bankruptcy. However, on any scale of educational priorities, a museum must rank well towards the bottom. Perhaps the only competition it has for the bottom rung is a rare book collection.

Rare books are wonderful things, but their utility level leaves a great deal to be desired. Normally they do not circulate, but are kept in air-conditioned vaults designed by the same architect who handled Fort Knox.

(I say "normally" because once in 1946 at Cornell I had the shock of my life. I put in a request at the library desk for Hobbes' Leviathan and was casually handed the first edition! I commented on this to the lady behind the desk and she retorted briskly, "Well, you asked for Hobbes' Leviathan, and that is the only copy in the stacks at the moment.")

Many universities and colleges have thus found themselves in the paradoxical position of having enormous sums to spend on peripheral endeavors — as I read the story, Yale's $15 million was wholly tied to rare books and their proper maintenance — but no cash flow for operational purposes. (Our library needs both working (as distinct from rare) books and money to pay librarians — perhaps we can raise some by selling all our rare books to Yale?) Yet it is the hardest thing in the world to get an interested potential donor to simply put money into education. Education per se does nothing for his ego — he wants some sort of monument.

This may be somewhat unfair — there have been endowed chairs and endowed departments, where the money is given to pay salaries and overhead — but the only headline that will really cheer me up is: "University Given $10 Million for Education." (King Features Syndicate)

Potomac Fever

One thing about all the Greeks going to prison: it cuts down on the unemployment rate.

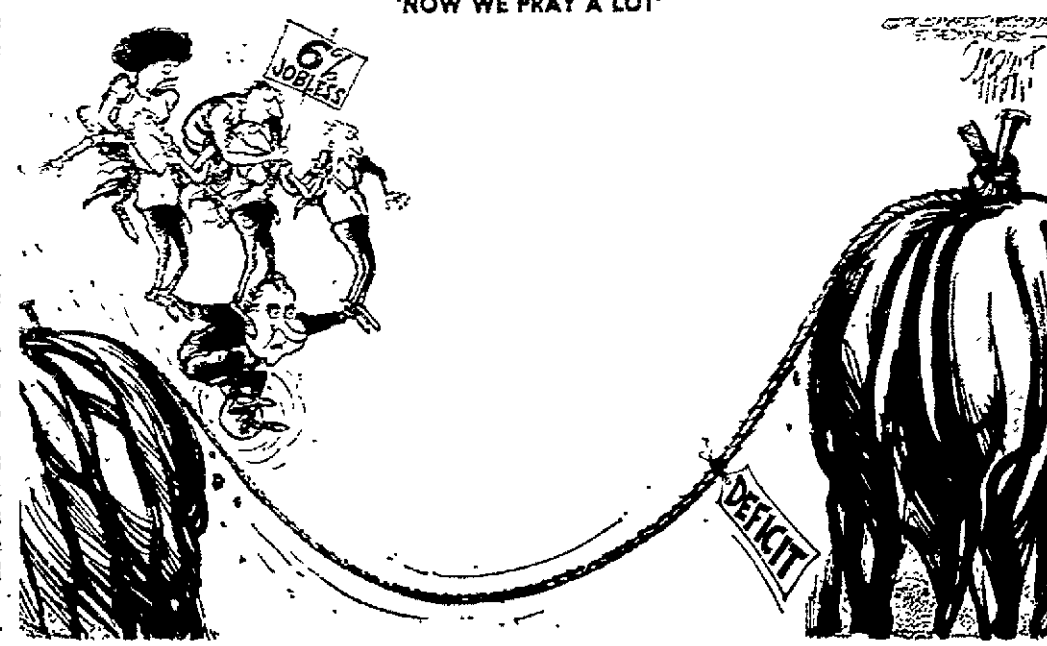

Melvin Laird says he'll emphasize conventional weapons in the future. That's if our supply of conventional soldiers holds out.

Edward Teller says Oppenheimer talks him out of opposing use of the A-bomb. Does that make the H-bomb an illegitimate son?

A former Red spy says the Russians used pretty girls to lure foreign diplomats. Would you expect them to use ugly girls?

Gene McCarthy will stay in Washington and try to reform the Demo nominating machinery — or at least make friends with the oiler.

'NOW WE PRAY A LOT'

Security Measures In Governor's Home Surprise Luceys

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — News note from a statehouse reporter's cuff:

The family of Patrick J. Lucey was surprised upon a first thorough examination of the state executive residence which will be home to them during the next four years about the extent to which security protection has been provided inside and outside the edifice.

Republicans in the State Senate made a bid for the attention of urban interests when they added a Committee on Housing and Urban Development to the roster of senate standing committees.

There is an element of irony in the fact, however, that the GOP senate command could find no truly "urban" member in its ranks to which to give the new committee gavel. Chairman Arthur Cirilli of Superior represents for the most part a rural district. The Republican senator whose district is primarily urban is Sen. Myron Lott of Green Bay. He is the vice chairman, logically enough.

Souvenir collectors note: The first copies of Gov. Lucey's inaugural speech distributed last week may become collection items. They were dated "Jan. 4, 1970," by a secretary who fell into the error that afflicts many persons when the year turns.

Reapportionment of Wisconsin congressional districts, even with the requirement to reduce them from 10 to 9 will be comparatively easy — when measured against the inevitably delicate job of remapping the legislature itself. Wisconsin congressmen of both parties have already considered the matter in detail and will transmit their own notions to the legislative committee in charge when the time comes. Mostly the districts will be pushed westward and northward, in the early consensus.

Jerome A. Martin, the Manitowoc County oil jobber who is the new Democratic state senator from the 1st District, is a member of the distinguished northeastern Wisconsin family that included widely known lawyers in several earlier generations. An uncle was the late Justice Joseph Martin of the State Supreme Court, earlier head of a major Green Bay law firm. A cousin was the late John E. Martin, longtime attorney general and later Supreme Court chief justice.

Add the names of Mrs. Janet Schwed and Richard Cudahy of Milwaukee to the list of those who may compete for the two Wisconsin seats on the Democratic National Committee at the Democratic state convention in the spring. Mrs. Schwed is a former member of the national party organization command group, lost narrowly four years ago to Miss Mary Lou Burg, the present Wisconsin member and now vice chairman of the organization in its Washington office. Cudahy, the former state chairman, is a close and highly regarded friend of some of the major Wisconsin party leaders and especially Sen. Proxmire and Gov. Lucey.

Walter Hollander, the State Senate veteran for the Fond du Lac district and the fondly regarded elder statesman of Capitol Republicans, had some pointed and wise advice for freshman state legislators of both parties at an indoctrination school. Trying to explain the hazards of politics in a legislature that will be under divided party control, he said in effect:

Don't paint yourselves into corners.

Capitol correspondents like to allude to "powerful" offices. The man who holds the No. 2 state government office in terms of literal power, and is chief lieutenant of the No. 1 man, who is the governor, is Joe E. Nusbbaum, Gov. Lucey's commissioner of administration. Nusbbaum has some extraordinary talents, also, not the least of which is a good relationship with some of the Republicans in the legislature with whom the Lucey regime must reckon as it starts to function.

Strictly Personal

Happiness in Future Can be a Delusion

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Those who are preparing to be happy in the future are victims of a gigantic self-delusion; for the posture of anticipation renders a person unfit to seize the moment when it arrives, having trained himself to keep his eyes on a still distant future. (This explains, incidentally, why the money-striver never feels he is really "rich.")

We improperly use the word "proverbial" when we feel uncomfortable in expressing a cliché; on the car radio today, I heard an announcer say "he is as strong as the proverbial bull," but there is no proverb about a bull's strength — it is only a tired simile.

The best argument for a well-stocked mind is the wholly practical one that, if we live mainly on the sensory level, we find that the pleasures of life are fleeting, while the ills are lingering; and the development of our intellectual resources enables us to reverse this proportion of pleasure and pain as we grow older.

Fewer Home Births

LONDON (AP) — Only about one in seven births now take place at home in Britain, less than half the proportion in 1961, a government survey showed.

People who live rigidly by the "rule of reason" eventually drive themselves into a fanatical excess of reasonableness, failing to recall Santayana's gentle reminder that "Reason is only a harmony among irrational impulses."

Does anyone know why it's called "the shank of the evening?" and how the phrase got its meaning? (I can't find it in any of my usual sources.)

One of the finest unconscious contributions to our Antics with Semantics Department was made last month by Defense Secretary Laird, when he referred to our renewed bombing of North Vietnam as "protective reaction strikes."

It might turn out to be more disconcerting than gratifying to discover intelligent life on other planets; we might find out, as Goethe suggested two centuries ago, that "our planet is the mental institution of the universe."

The real danger in a revolution is that the moderates are the first ones to go, being equally detested by both sides, and so the resolution of the conflict takes places between extremists, neither of which sees reality undistorted by ideology.

I suppose the ultimate faster-than-sound aircraft will be called the "Mach Schnell."

Nutmeg Questionable Indigestion Remedy

BY G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In all seriousness, I am curious to know about the analgesic properties of ordinary kitchen nutmeg to relieve stomach cramps from a spastic colon and stomach flu.

When I mentioned my cramps to a friend several years ago, she suggested that I take a teaspoonful of nutmeg with a couple of sips of water. Her husband was a rancher and had a problem with sheep bloating. Nothing the veterinarian did seemed to help. An old foreman suggested nutmeg, and within 12 hours the bloating had subsided.

On a wild hunch, I took the nutmeg and in half an hour my cramps were gone. I have asked doctors including veterinarians about this but none had ever heard of it. — Mrs. G. deC.

And neither had I, but I still keep learning new things every day.

Spices of all sorts contain oils and irritants that create their flavor and their usefulness as carminatives.

A carminative is something that settles the stomach (or may "unsettle" it enough to help it). Peppermint for the stomach is pretty well known, as well as oil of clove for an aching tooth.

Now I can't verify that nutmeg has any analgesic (pain-killing) quality, but can suggest a reason why it worked.

Of spices, mustard, cloves and nutmeg have the greatest irritating qualities. This irritating property accounts for its carminative value. It can promote release of digestive juices, increase the motility (activity) of the stomach, and indirectly thus help the release of gas and in that way reduce bloating and cramps.

A teaspoonful of nutmeg sounds like a lot — could cause excessive irritation of the stomach lining. If you are going to use it in the future, I suggest trying a smaller dose to see if it won't suffice.

I offer this to try to answer your question — and to explain a little bit of how the stomach and digestive tract can respond to stimulation.

I don't intend it as advocating the use of nutmeg as a remedy for cramps or indigestion. Indeed, any continued use could cause enough irritation to do more harm than good — and too much stomach motility can lead to real distress. People with ulcers are told to avoid spicy foods. That's why. Too much motility increases their troubles.

Low blood sugar — a puzzler until correctly identified — is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbance. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent for a copy of his booklet, "Help For Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Truck Speed Limit Increase Proposed

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The new Legislature will be asked to review the state rule that imposes a continued low speed limit for motor carriers of freight using the state, county and other rural highways which is expected to introduce the new speed limit and to support its Highway Advisory Committee. The interim committee has led by Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto, will be the sponsor of a bill proposing to raise the limit of speed for commercial vehicles having a gross weight of 10,000 pounds or more from the traditional 15 miles to 55 miles, towing vehicle. The new bill would permit the motor vehicle division to approve the use of the so-called V-bridge single chain type connection for such vehicles are limited 70 miles an hour during the daylight hours and 60 miles at night. The limits separate chains. In another proposal or change in state law for the highway system are 65 miles in the highway use laws, during the day and 55 during the night-time for autos. An official of the state division of highways recalled that zones and crossing areas. The division had been asked to permit local guards make a more flexible testify in the 1968 Legislature on officials to establish limits in control system advisable, the a similar bill to raise upward such problem areas under their committee said.

DNR Issues 40 Pollution Calls

MADISON (AP)—Some 40 orders calling for the end of alleged pollution in the Sheboygan River basin have been issued by the Department of Natural Resources. Cities, small municipalities, industries and institutions were named in the orders announced today. The DNR called for construction of new or improved waste treatment facilities, replacement of private septic tanks with collection and treatment systems, and connection of industrial waste lines to city treatment systems. Deadlines for compliance ranged from Feb. 1 this year to dates through 1972.

jurisdiction, and to delegate such rules to the state highway division for state trunk highways. Under a 40 year old state law, limits of 15 miles an hour now apply to such special problem zones. Changes in conditions, including the nearly universal use of school buses for transport of children and the protection of urban school zones by flashing lights and crossing guards make a more flexible committee said.

Former Knowles Aide Joins UW President's Staff

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Stephen Boyle, who served former Gov. Warren P. Knowles as executive secretary, will become a special aide and public relations adviser to John Weaver, the new president of the University of Wisconsin. Boyle will be named with the consent of the UW board of regents, according to informed sources. All modern presidents of the university have had the tacit approval of the regents to choose their own immediate assistants, and the regents evidently have a similar understanding with the man who recently arrived on the campus to occupy the university presidential suite after his selection last fall. Boyle served Knowles during his entire gubernatorial term of six years, first as executive office press relations man, later as the manager of the executive office. Trained in radio reporting, Boyle formerly worked in Eau Claire, and had been a member of the staff of the Republican state committee head-

ABC Students Like Appleton In Spite of Few Social Problems

A panel of ABC (A Better Chance) students told the program's board members and the public Monday night that they are well pleased with the educational opportunities here but that they've had difficulties socially and in housing. The teenage black girls who left their homes in September to study in Appleton high schools, blamed the social problems on cultural differences, implying that many whites are naive in regard to black backgrounds and that this makes "communication very difficult." For our social life, one girl explained, "we've mostly gone to Lawrence University." At the same time one youth attending Appleton High School East said that since white students "are not as knowledgeable as could be, I have attempted to understand them, and I don't feel patronized." The boys, who live at a dormitory on Washington Street, Appleton's ABC President, Robert Smith said he thinks the program is successful, since several of last year's participants recommended it to friends a theme of homosexuality.

thought mandatory bed hours and because many of their 1970 contributions have come in small denominations "indicating a fairly wide community support." Board members elected at the meeting are George Howden, Milan Stary, Gordon Meyer, Dennis Herrling, Thomas Randles, John W. Close, James Marks, Marwin Wroldstad and Alan Stoner. A Fox Valley Human Rights Council representative presented $281.30 to the ABC program in behalf of his association. The group said that academically they were satisfied with Appleton since there are better facilities, better teachers, and less crowding than is experienced at their homes in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. They also said they are pleased because they can take more subjects here. Considered Successful Appleton's ABC President, Robert Smith said he thinks the program is successful, since several of last year's participants recommended it to friends a theme of homosexuality.

Nader Asked to Speak
MADISON (AP) — The state Senate's Committee on Commerce, Labor, Taxation, Insurance and Banking has invited consumer protection investigator Ralph Nader to appear at a February hearing on automobile insurance rates, Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, said Wednesday.

Egyptians to Dedicate Dam

CAIRO (AP) — Fifteen years after the United States refused to help President Gamal Abdel Nasser build the Aswan high dam, Nasser's successor and Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny will dedicate the huge Nile River flood control and power project.

The dedication Friday coincides with Nasser's birthday. He conceived the project and pushed it nearly to completion before his death from a heart attack last Sept. 28.

At the urging of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, the U.S. government refused in 1956 to grant Egypt funds for the dam which forced Nasser to seek aid from the Soviet Union. The Kremlin contributed $260 million of the $735 million the project cost.

Soviet Engineers About 200 Soviet engineers also assisted in the construction which began in 1960.

Ultimately Nasser came to depend on the Kremlin to arm and train his military forces.

His successor, President Anwar Sadat, greeted Podgorny and Russian officials with him Wednesday at Cairo Airport. The two men were to meet today to discuss the Arab-Israeli situation before flying to Aswan tonight.

The dam site, more than 400 miles up the Nile from Cairo, was decorated with thousands of red flags and banners hailing "Russian-Egyptian friendship." The city of Aswan glittered with lights powered by the dam's generators, which produce 10 billion kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

The dam project, one of the largest in the world, is laid out in four major sections: a gigantic mass of rocks blocking the ancient course of the Nile, a diversion canal channeling the river into six tunnels hewn through a granite mountain, a 12-turbine power station and a 315-mile-long reservoir known as Lake Nasser.

The dam has given Egypt 1.2 million acres of additional farmland and by providing water year round has made possible the growing of two or more crops a year on 650,000 acres which formerly produced one crop a year.

Electricity Minister Helmi El-Saeed says the dam has already earned back its cost, having added nearly $1 billion to the national income in the past five years.

The reservoir also yields 30 tons of fish daily.

Children Hanged By Single Rope

HOUSTON (AP) — Two young boys with their hands tied, hanging by the neck from opposite ends of a rope over a tree limb, were found dead in a suburban back yard Wednesday night.

They were Travis Donald Stuckey, 12, and James Roland Miles, 11.

Police said a nylon rope with a noose in each end had been thrown over a limb seven feet from the ground in the Stuckey boy's yard.

Police Lt. Charles Holt said a young Stuckey's hands were tied behind him and he was slumped over. The Miles boy's hands were tied in front of him and he was on his feet but slumped over.

Holt said there were no objects around from which the boys could have jumped. It appeared to be an accident, he said, but added, "We just don't know. We haven't been able to round up a single witness."

Noah Sanders, stepfather of the Miles boy, said he felt it was an accident.

"I think one boy fell and when he did it raised the other off the ground," Sanders said. "They had been playing with that rope for the last couple of days, tying each other up with it."

James R. Essray, stepfather of Travis, disagreed.

"There must have been a third boy involved, because both boys' hands were tied," he declared.

Both boys were star Little League baseball players. Their stepfathers coached them on ri-

Rail Union Suggests Nationalization

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Charles Luna, president of the United Transportation Union, says he thinks Congress is in a mood to nationalize the railroads, and he is proposing such a step if current labor disputes are not settled by March 1.

The UTU, with 280,000 members, is the largest union involved in the dispute. It took part in the brief national rail strike Dec. 10, but directed its members to end their work stoppage when ordered to do so by a federal court.

Luna said Wednesday he would prefer to handle labor disputes with the railroads by negotiation, but declared:

"If the federal courts and Congress continue to deprive railroad employees of their right to exercise their economic strength, the UTU will call upon Congress to enact legislation to nationalize the railroads and bring them under control of the federal government."

He said the proposal was unanimously approved by 60 of his union's leaders at a meeting which began here Monday.

Luna said the UTU would have the nationalization measure introduced by a member of Congress unless its differences with the railroads were settled by the end of February.

He told newsmen he thought the legislators would be receptive because of requests for railroad subsidies, the Penn-Central "We are facing new threats to our very existence as a union," he said.

Bobby Baker Starts Serving Prison Term

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Robert G. "Bobby" Baker, smiling thinly and tight lipped, surrendered today to a U.S. Marshal to begin a prison term for cheating the government.

"I shall do my duty, and I shall do it with honor," Baker told newsmen as he strode through the snow into the Federal Courthouse, ending his four-year battle for freedom.

Baker, the Washington influence peddler who once boasted that Lyndon B. Johnson was "the best friend I ever had around the Capitol," wore sunglasses despite the gray morning peppered with freezing rain. Inside the building he took off the glasses and slipped them into the inside pocket of his grey pin-striped suit and rode the elevator to the fourth floor office of Marshal John Buck.

There he introduced himself and was taken out of sight.

Baker, 42, lost his last bid to avoid jail last month when the U.S. Supreme Court refused his appeal for a review of his conviction on charges of larceny, income tax evasion, fraud and conspiracy.
